DROPS REVOLVER AND IT EXPLODES

William Smith is Shot Through Leg Today After Having Killed a Rabbit.

ON WM. A. ALEXANDER FARM

Trigger Catches on Wire Fence Which Causes Gun to go Off—Hurts Not Serious.

The first hunting accident of the season in Rush county happened on the William A. Alexander farm west of the city today when William Smith, a farm laborer, was shot through the leg with a revolver.

The shooting was purely accidental, and a peculiar accident at that. The man is not believed to be seriously wounded and it is not likely that he will suffer any evil effects from the mishap, according to Dr. R. T. Blount, who was called and dressed the wound.

Mr. Alexander and Mr. Smith were out working along a fence on the farm. The farm laborer carried a revolver while at work, thinking that he might get a shot at a rabbit while working on the farm.

The expected happened this morning. A rabbit jumped up in front of Mr. Smith and he drew his revolver and fired hastily. He killed the rabbit and rushed over to where it had dropped dead alongside the wire fence.

Mr. Smith leaned over to pull the rabbit's head off and the revolver slipped from his pocket. In some way it struck the wire fence so that the trigger was pulled and the gun exploded.

The bullet entered the fleshy part of his leg just above the knee. The bullet penetrated the flesh and passed out on the side, passing a distance of eight inches through the flesh. It narrowly missed the bone.

The accident was witnessed by Mr. Alexander who was only a few feet distant. He helped Mr. Smith to the house and Dr. Blount was summoned. Smith suffered considerable pain from the wound.

GLENWOOD WOULD STAMP OUT FEVER

Health Board Takes Drastic Steps In Order to Prevent Spread of Disease.

CHILDREN KEPT OFF STREET

The town health board of the little village of Glenwood is taking every precaution to prevent a spread of scarlet fever epidemic which prevails there. The health board has taken such drastic steps as to prohibit any child from leaving the town unless its parents present a doctor's certificate to the health board that the child has not been subject to the disease and is free from the disease if it has ever been afflicted.

No public gatherings are allowed in the town and no children are allowed to play out of doors. It is said that this order is being enforced to the letter. Although there are only four or five cases in Glenwood, an earnest endeavor is being made to see that the number does not grow larger.

WEATHER.

Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

Mrs. Ruth Tevis Spencer Will Appear in Indianapolis.

Together with an excellent likeness of Mrs. Arnold Spencer, formerly Miss Ruth Tevis of this city, there appeared on the front page of the Indianapolis Star Sunday the following: Mrs. Arnold Spencer, one of the most talented soprano singers of the city, will be heard in solo numbers at the concert of old time melodies at the Murat Theater, the evening of Dec. 11, for the benefit of the Star Santa Claus Fund. Mrs. Spencer is soloist at the Memorial Presbyterian church and also at the Hebrew Temple, being a great favorite at both churches.

DEATH COMES TO JAMES HINCHMAN

Well Known Aged Resident Expires at Home Here Following Stroke of Paralysis.

LEAVES WIDOW AND 3 SONS

James H. Hinchman, 80 years old, a well known resident of this city, died this morning shortly after seven o'clock at his home, 337 East Sixth street. Death was caused by a stroke of paralysis which he suffered recently. Because of his advanced age, little hope for his recovery had been maintained. He is survived by his widow and three sons, Morton, Gurney and Delta.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at the late residence. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday morning from 9 o'clock until 11 o'clock.

MAY BE NECESSARY TO AMPUTATE LEG

John Gantner, Sr., is in Precarious Condition Because he Trimmed Corn Too Closely.

HIS TOE HAS BEEN CUT OFF

Because he trimmed his corn too closely more than a month ago, John Gantner, Sr., an aged man who is well known in Rushville, may have to have his leg amputated above the knee.

Mr. Gantner's toe was sore after the operation he performed but he allowed it to go until it was too late. He put corn medicine on it without avail. When a physician was called it was found the blood poisoning had set in. The injured toe became so bad that it was necessary to cut it off at the first joint.

This did not stop the ravages of the disease and it was soon found necessary to amputate the whole toe. But it now seems that this operation has not rid the aged man of the disease and the attending physician had advised that his leg be amputated above the knee.

INFANT HEASTON DEAD.

The one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Heaston, died yesterday afternoon at their home in Jersey City after an illness with pneumonia and whooping cough. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

WHOOOPS ARE NOT ABATED IN LEAST

Disease Still Prevails in City Schools As it Did at Opening In the Fall.

IS CONFINED TO RUSHVILLE

Township Schools Get One Week Vacation Christmas—Tickets For State Association Here.

The whooping cough which has been an epidemic among the children of Rushville since the opening of school in the fall has not abated in the least. James Miller, county trustee officer, made this statement this morning in the office of the county superintendent of the schools, and he is well qualified to make such an assertion. The epidemic is confined to the city schools.

A good part of the pupils who are in the schools now are immune from the whooping cough because they have already passed through a siege of the disease and are back in school once more. Others, however, are afflicted. In some rooms of the city schools, it is said, a third of the normal enrollment is out with the disease.

The problem with the teachers is how to accommodate the large classes which will be made next year by the condition which exists this year. Many of the pupils who have been out two months with whooping cough cannot possibly pass in their studies. This will hold them back and congest the middle grades as the disease is not so common in the primary and second grades, nor in the higher grades of the grammar school. The buildings here are already crowded, and with the usual class moved up and many held back from the preceding class, the crowded conditions will be intensified.

Arrangements have been made for the two holiday vacations which come next on the calendar, as far as the county schools are concerned. All schools outside of the city of Rushville and other school corporations in the county which are governed by special school boards, will have only one week's vacation for Christmas. The schools will close Friday evening, December 20, and reconvene Monday morning, December 30.

It is understood that the holiday vacation for the city schools has not yet been determined. The Thanksgiving vacation for the township schools as well as the Rushville schools will be the same as it has always been. They will close Wednesday evening before Thanksgiving, which is next Wednesday evening, and take up again the following Monday.

County Supt. C. M. George wishes to announce that he has received the tickets for the State Teachers' Association which will meet in annual session at Indianapolis December 26, 27 and 28. The price of the tickets for the teachers will be fifty cents and all teachers in the county can obtain them from either Supt. George or Supt. Scholl of the city schools.

The entire proceedings of the convention will be printed early in 1913 and every teacher who enrolls and is in attendance at the meeting, will receive copies.

Both Superintendent George and Scholl requests that all teachers attend as many of the sessions of the meeting as is possible.

It is the desire of the local officials that this county be in the front ranks. The semi-annual examinations in the township schools will be held Tuesday and Wednesday before Christmas, December 17 and 18.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR LOCAL TEAM

High School Will Take on Some of Best Teams in State This Season.

FIRST GAME AT FRANKLIN

Prospects Are Not Very Bright But Prof. Smelser May Develop a Winning Aggregation.

The Rushville high school basketball team faces a hard schedule for the coming season. The schedule has been completed by Prof. Smelser, with the exception of possibly two games—one with North Vernon and one with Madison. These two games are pending.

Possibly fifteen games will be played and the schedule includes some of the best teams in the state. The schedule this year is considered the best one in recent years and the team will be up against a severe test in carrying it out. The season will open December 13 with a game at Franklin. Prof. Smelser and the team are not the least superstitious in starting the season and hope to win the opener even if it comes on Friday, the thirteenth as this one does.

Prospects for a winning team are not the brightest in the world as the material is lacking. However Prof. Smelser hopes to develop a winning aggregation and the team has a fighting chance of getting a majority of the games. Three of last years team remain in school and will make a hard fight for the team. Webb at center, Roan at guard and Cameron at forward seem certain of a berth. Webb is practically assured of the job at center and Cameron will more than likely be one of the forwards.

The guard material is plentiful and includes Roan, Frasier and Griffin. According to Prof. Smelser the team is shy on goals getters but the most promising includes Hinkle, McDonald, Knecht, Simms and Cameron. The team will soon get down to practice in earnest and before the season is far advanced the team may give a good account of itself.

The schedule is as follows:
Dec. 13—Rushville at Franklin.
Dec. 20—Rushville at Shelbyville.
Dec. 21—Carthage at Rushville.
Jan. 3—Rushville at Richmond.
Jan. 10—Shelbyville at Rushville.
Jan. 17—Rushville at Connersville.
Jan. 24—Newcastle at Rushville.
Jan. 31—Rushville at Newcastle.
Feb. 4—Rushville at Carthage.
Feb. 15—Richmond at Rushville.
Feb. 21—Connersville at Rushville.
March 1—Rushville at Madison.
March 14—Franklin at Rushville.

The funeral will be held at the residence Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and burial will take place in Bennett cemetery.

BLIZZARD HITS RUSHVILLE

But Fair Weather is Promised by Prognosticator Tomorrow.

The first snowstorm of the season hovered over Rushville yesterday. Snow fell most of the time all day Sunday, but the strong south winds which accompanied the storm failed to make the snow stick. The temperature yesterday morning was below freezing, and was the lowest of the winter. A lower temperature prevailed today than yesterday even though the day was not so disagreeable. Fair weather is promised for tomorrow.

DEMOCRATS SPEND $1289.84 THIS YEAR

Report of County Committee Treasurer Shows a Balance of $86.41 on Hands.

EXPENDITURES USUAL KIND

According to the report filed by V. R. Spurgeon, treasurer, the Democratic central committee spent $1,289.84 in the campaign proper and received in contributions $1,376.25, which leaves a balance of $86.41.

The major portion of the contributions were from the candidates. A few of the candidates gave $150 and the largest individual contribution outside the candidates was $100, given by Lon H. Mull of Manilla.

The expenditures were for postage, telephone, band hire, rentals, clerical work and other things incident to the campaign. James Casady, vice-chairman, according to the report, received $200 for help about headquarters. Stenographers were paid $149 for their services and one item of postage was $167.70. Fourteen men who performed the double service of poll book holder and challenger received $2 each. Thirty-two other men who performed the tasks separately, according to the report, received $1.50 each. Rent for headquarters was $64 and for club rooms $20.

FACES CHARGE OF TAKING BICYCLE

Fred Hatfield is Bound Over to Court For Theft of Frank Muire's Wheel.

POLICE WANT DONALD NEWLIN

Fred Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hatfield, was bound over to the circuit court this afternoon by Mayor Black after he had pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing a bicycle from Frank Muire. His bond was fixed at $250 and in default he was returned to jail.

Hatfield was arrested Saturday night. The police claim they traced the stealing of a bicycle to Hatfield and Donald Newlin. It is alleged that the two boys, who hid the bicycle under the Adams Produce Company's building sold some hides to Oneal's and in this manner connect Hatfield and Newlin with the case. The Newlin boy suddenly left the city but the police hope to capture him soon. Several bicycles have been stolen recently and the police believe the gang will be broken up with the arrest of Hatfield.

NEW PROCESSES ARE FAILURES

County Fair Stockholder of Foggy Class Argues Old-Fashioned Methods Should be Used.

TO INSURE FURTHER SUCCESS

No Reason Why It Should Not be Made Paying Venture Without Passing Hat.

A stockholder of the Rush County Fair Association, who says he is one of the old, foggy class of stockholders, has contributed an article to the Daily Republican pertaining to the management of the fair, in which he strikes an optimistic note and declares the fair can be made to pay off its $2500 indebtedness without passing the hat or attempting to legislate money out of the people's pockets. The article follows:

As a stockholder in the Rush County Fair Association and one who believes that, with proper management, the fair has a successful future and can readily pay the large debt now charged against it without resorting to any begging processes, allow me a word in your paper.

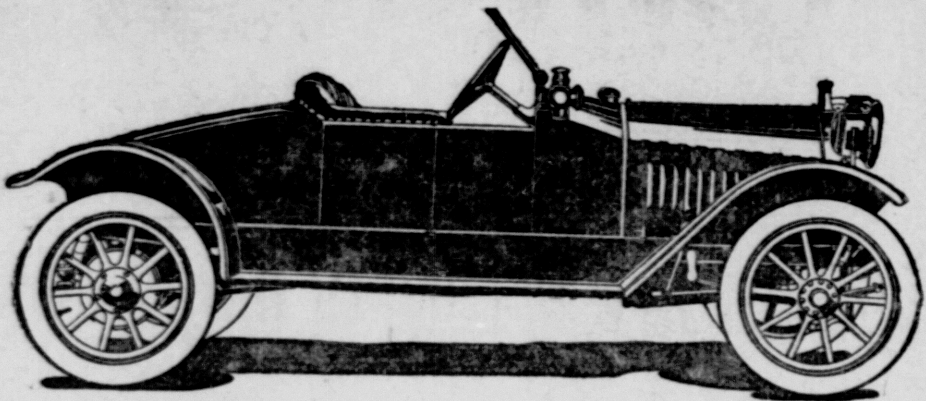

That the Fair has scored more mistakes than successes within the last few years, is conceded by every one known to the facts. It may be said that I belonged to the old "foggy" class of fair operators. Very well, let it be so claimed and at the same time noted that the old "foggy" processes were successful while the new "foggy" processes have been failures. In looking for remedies for the mistakes of recent years care should be taken lest the cure be worse than the disease. Usually when the traveler finds that he has taken the wrong road he seeks the right one—another way, and before entering upon it assures himself that it is the right one.

At a recent meeting forty-four, or about one-fifth of the stockholders of the Association, a panacea was administered whereby the stockholders who have been holding "their knuckles" for the many years while their property was depreciating in value by the accumulation of debt, many of them having their entire holding in the previous fair, and for the sake of keeping this county in the forefront of agricultural counties of the state, again put up their money, were required, hereafter, to pay their way into their own property besides owning it, for the use and benefit of the general public without interest or dividend. It would have been more equitable to have sold the property and let the men who wished to reinvest on the new basis buy it.

Again, when the Traction Company paid $3500 it would have been a better policy to have then sold the property, divided the money, among those entitled to it and accepted the proposition of W. A. Jones who offered to lease his track and grounds and appurtenances to the Association for a period of twelve years, free of rent, for fair purposes, than to have spent so much money building a track that but few men if any, would speed a real fast horse upon it. Again many are anxious to have the county make a donation to help pay the debt. The law permits the Commissions. In their discretion, and upon a petition to loan the Association a stipulated sum which would remain a lien upon the real personal property of the Association until repaid to the county with six percent interest. A motion was made and entertained, at said meeting that a committee be appointed to lobby the legislature for a law compelling the Commissioners to appropriate money for fairs.

ADRIANOPLE IS NEAR ITS FALL

Turks Cannot Hold Out Much Longer.

REINFORCEMENTS POURING IN

Both the Army Before the Ancient Capital of Thrace and the Wounded Bulgars Before the Tchataldja Lines Are Receiving Long Needed Help in the Way of Heavy Guns to Batter Down the Resistance of the Turks.

Vienna, Nov. 25.—The situation is more hopeful than ever because Serbia, recognizing the Austrian view about Albania, demands only an Adriatic port. Meanwhile France is endeavoring to persuade Austria and Serbia to compromise their differences. It is anticipated that Turkey may prolong the war, as Bulgaria's situation in the field is deplorable. The Bulgarian troops lack food and ammunition and floods have rendered the roads impassable, so that it is impossible to replenish their supplies.

Constantinople, Nov. 25.—The Bulgarian peace negotiators arrived at the Bulgarian headquarters on Saturday. It is expected that they will meet the Turkish plenipotentiaries today. There are, indeed, reports that the two bodies met on Sunday, one story going so far as to say that an armistice for a week was arranged. According to this both sides agreed to keep their respective positions without bringing up any reinforcements. These reports cannot be confirmed.

London, Nov. 25.—Fierce fighting continues around beleaguered Adrianople, and the allies say confidently that the Turks in the city are on the verge of surrendering.

Coming through roads almost impassable because of the floods and through passes that are choked with snow, are the reinforcements for the Bulgars and Serbs, both in front of Adrianople and battling on the Tchataldja lines. With them they are bringing the heavy field guns that the Bulgarians so sorely need in their attempts to pierce the lines held by Nazim Pasha at the Constantinople defenses.

And while they wait the Serbs, upon whom has fallen the brunt of the siege of Adrianople since the Bulgars swung down to Tchataldja, continue to pour a heavy shell fire into the forts.

The Vienna Reichspost prints a dispatch that purports to be inspired by Archduke Francis Ferdinand or some of his advisers that he is returning from his conference with the kaiser in Berlin convinced that if there should be more than mere talk in the quarrel between Austria and Serbia over a strip of seacoast, then Germany will stand shoulder to shoulder with Austria.

With a flotilla of Austrian fighting craft steaming down the Danube to anchor off the capital of the country whose relations with Austria are so strained, with troops marching to the borders of that country, with fighting men called to arms in Germany and Russia, the situation is one of the most nerve-racking tension.

An Especial Source of Worry.

The approach of the Danube flotilla to Belgrade is an especial source of worry to diplomats, who realize what might happen if anything that might be interpreted as hostile should occur while that flotilla was in sight of the Serbs' capital.

On the other hand, strenuous efforts are being made by the French republic to bridge the chasm between Austria and Serbia. The endeavors have not yet emerged from their initial state, but there are sound reasons for assuming that they will be crowned with success. This beneficent action of the French government is a new and important factor in the international drama. As the republic has hitherto given undeniable proofs of warm friendship for Serbia, it has acquired the right to be heard when offering counsels of moderation. Accordingly, between Premier Poincare and the Serbian minister at Paris the subject has been mooted and the conversations are expected to continue.

On these grounds the outlook at the present moment is characterized in some circles as even more reassuring than several days ago. True, war between Austria-Hungary on the one hand and Serbia and Russia on the other, is being spiritedly carried on by the press of the respective countries, whose readers they treat each morning to the rattling of sabers and the clicking of rifles, which heated fancy hears behind the scratching of the mighty pens, and it also is true that there still is profound antagonism of spirit between Slav and Austrian publicist which operates as a troubling medium in distorting ideas that rightfully apprehended would link the two states in friendship. It is understood that Russia is relying on a European conference after the war to settle disputed matters and is determined to avoid war unless in defense of her own frontiers.

Cholera continues its ravages unabated in and about Constantinople.

AMUSEMENTS

Another treat in store for the patrons of the Shubert Murat theater, Indianapolis, is "Buntz Pulls The Strings," Grayham Moffat's famous comedy, the sweeping success of which, in New York and London, has been the biggest sensation of the dramatic world in recent years. "Buntz" presented by an all-Scotch company of eighteen players, including Miss Molly McIntyre and William Lennox, will be at the Shubert Murat the entire week of Nov. 25th. There will be a Special Thanksgiving matinee.

The story of the play deals principally with the tangled affairs of Tammam Bigger, father of Buntz. Tammam is a widower, a pillar of the church and an honored citizen of the little Highland village of Lintiehaugh. But he has had a past, has been something of a gay old dog in his day, and no one knows this better than Susie Simpson, the testy and hypocritical spinster around whose machinations the play largely revolves. Buntz, in love with Veelum sprunt, irons out in deft, ingenious manner, the entanglements in which her father is enmeshed.

While she is going about this task there are presented to the audience many highly amusing situations, man scenes that are brimful of quaintness and humor—scenes and situations which have caused several critics to label "Buntz" as the greatest comedy of the decade. "Buntz Pulls The Strings" is said to be full of excellent dialogue, spontaneous and natural, so like the sort of speech such people would be likely to use that it does not seem overdrawn even in its funniest moments. It has been said that Mr. Moffat, the author, and the Scotch players have done for the Scotch character and environment pretty much the same sort of thing that made James A. Herne's plays of New England life triumphs of realism and of art.

And of the company which is to present "Buntz" at the Murat it has been said that their playing is the very reflection of life itself, with not a stagey thing about it. Humanity walks upon the scenes with all its dignity and simplicity, all its depths and foolishness. Undoubtedly "Buntz" will receive the same warm reception in Indianapolis that the play has received everywhere else and the engagement will be one of long to be remembered by those who enjoy wholesomeness, verity and truth in stage entertainments.

There will be no advance in prices for this engagement. A popular Wednesday Matinee will be given. A special Thanksgiving Matinee will be presented on Thursday.

Season's Frocks Embrace Features Settled Years Ago

When the season is young there is always a plenty that is new in the fashions. Millinery blooms into richness and beauty, frocks have new lines that please or displease, blouses show a variety of detail that make them in the forefront of fashion's van, and, in fact, there is something new on all sides. Yet to the one who analyzes the new models carefully there is nothing that is entirely unfamiliar.

Frocks embrace certain features that we have regarded as quite settled a season ago, if not longer, and hats, although they are prettier than ever, are not absolutely original in shape. The trimmings in many instances are positively new, especially the decorations for tailored hats. It is wonderful how much of chic the milliners have crowded into the hats for general wear; it is also noticeable that such hats are so developed, frequently, that they may serve semi-formal purposes.

Take, for instance, the little velvet and mouse skin hats worn with tailored suits. When used for motoring they are trimmed with single feather fancies or fringed ribbon, boned and set upright to produce the effect of a feather decoration, and thus are made to serve a semi-dressy purpose, as well as the purpose of the strictly tailored frock.

Another novel decoration on some of the hats, covered with corded silk and faced with satin or velvet, is made of lace, wired and shaped like a very large wing and placed on one side of the hat. It is placed on the very edge of the brim and almost entirely covers the crown.

Very large hats of black satin or velvet are extremely fashionable for dressy occasions, and they are usually trimmed in flat effect. Large roses, draperies of net, overlays of plaited net, roses enmeshed in chiffon, etc., all are trimmings greatly to be desired.

Two or three rows of finely plaited white corded silk ribbon on a chic little black velvet hat make a trimming that is liked by the French milliners. With this there are combined, perhaps, two straight little bands of black velvet, stoutly supported and edged with fringed silk. The plaited ribbon is stitched on the under side of the brim, and the velvet "quills" arranged at one side, where they are held in place with a pretty buckle or cabochon.

The four-cornered, three-cornered, tri-cornered and similar hat effects which made their appearance among the first modes of all seemed destined to become the over-popular types. It is true that they are generally becoming, but they are appearing in exceedingly cheap materials and trimmings among the ready-made models, which disqualifies them for the uses of the smart women with a love for things away "from the ordinary."

Men Will Get Medicine if
The Women Are Around.

Ed. Howe, the famous Kansas funny man and story teller, has an article in the December American Magazine in which he says:

"When a woman has charge of a sick man, she feels as important as the marshal of the day at a country Fourth of July celebration, and however amiable she may be at other times, she is very 'bossy' when she has medicine to give a man, or lotions to put on him; if he wants a drink of water, she expresses the opinion that he is drinking too much, and remembers that her aunt Harriet's husband once drank a great deal when he was sick, and had convulsions. If the sick man becomes impatient, and says the medicine is doing no good, she reminds him curtly that 'time' is necessary; she has even been known to dip into the classics, and say that Rome was not built in a day. The air of wisdom with which she examines the doctor books convinces the sick man that, however intelligent his medical adviser may have been, after his recovery he will be informed that he would have been sick much longer had she not used her home-made lotions. Whatever she does at night, the doctors will agree in the morning that it was very good.

"The sleepest woman in the world will stay up all night cheerfully if she can get a chance to doctor somebody, and if a man has medicine to take at an unusual hour he will get it, if there is a woman around."

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss.

The Doctrine of Good Shoes May Be Profitably Preached Only By a Good Shoe Man

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Need More Doctors of Public Health Says Former Hoosier

"We need more doctors of public health than more doctors of medicine," says Dr. F. B. Dresslar, formerly of Indiana, now connected with the federal bureau of education, in a bulletin "The Duty of the State in Medical Inspection of Schools," just issued by the bureau of education at Washington. Dr. Dresslar pleads earnestly for the kind of medical inspection that seeks to promote health rather than that which hunts for ill-health. "Our system of paying doctors to do something for us when we are sick ought to be largely discarded for the Chinese system of paying them to keep us from getting sick."

Dr. Dresslar justifies the state's intervention in the health of its citizens on broad grounds of public policy. He feels that the community has as much right to demand good health in its children as it has to demand that they attend school; as much right to preserve the community against contagion of disease and bodily neglect as against the contagion of ignorance.

In answer to the question whether medical inspection as now organized has proved useful, Dr. Dresslar shows that medical inspection has called attention in a startling way to the danger of school conditions in transmitting disease; it has already lessened actual illness, and consequently secured better school attendance; and best of all, medical inspection in the hands of carefully trained men with the right spirit has proved to be an educational agent of great value, by stimulating parents to give more attention to food, clothing, sleeping rooms and general home sanitation, and by disseminating better ideals of hygienic living.

It is in this increased knowledge by the people concerning the personal care of health that Dr. Dresslar finds the greatest ultimate good of medical inspection. He says many people are still in gross ignorance and superstition regarding health and disease, since many of them attribute to a divine Providence death from diseases directly due to filth. "Our chief duty lies in removing the causes which contribute to physical unsoundness and disease. As long as we herd our children in schools where they must breathe impure air, bend over insanitary school desks, work at books when they need physical exercise, just so long shall we be paying for our own errors."

Dr. Dresslar concludes that the country needs health officers whose chief delight is in finding and developing beautiful cases of physical perfection rather than in finding some obscure and rare disease; health officers whose philosophy is based on the gospel of physical vigor, on the sanctity of personal purity and the godliness of clean living; "doctors of health" in very truth, who will be concerned with exhibiting, not a long list of the physical defective and diseased, but a large list of healthy, well developed children.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree and order of sale, to me directed from the Clerk's office of the Rush Circuit Court, in a cause wherein the Home Building and Loan Association is plaintiff and Mary L. McIntee and Bernardine McIntee are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of five hundred and two dollars and seventy-four cents ($502.74), with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale, to the highest bidder, on Wednesday, the 18th Day of December, 1912, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House, of said Rush County, Indiana, the rents and profits of a term not exceeding seven years, of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Lot No. 1 in the Citizen's Addition to the City of Rushville, Indiana, except that part of said lot north of the C. H. & D. Railroad; also except that part of said lot, forty (40) feet in width off the east side, therefore sold to the New Castle and Rushville Railroad Co. If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws. CLATA L. BEHOUT, Sheriff of Rush County.

THREATEN TO TIE UP HUGE STEEL PLANTS

Labor Troubles at Pittsburgh Growing Serious.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 25.—Demanding an advance of 70 cents a day, six hundred more trainmen employed in the yard and mills of the steel corporation plants have quit. Nearly 1,000 trainmen are out in the Homestead and Edgar Thomson plants, and at the Carnegie furnaces.

The seriousness of the present strike was fully realized when officers of the steel company said the three big plants may be forced to shut down. This would put in idleness 20,000 men, the combined working forces of the plants. The men, gathering in groups in the streets of Homestead and Duquesne, assert they will force the company to accede to their demands or start the biggest strike since the Homestead strike and riots of 1892.

Since the Homestead strike of 1892 the mills of Monongahela and Turtle Creek valley have maintained the open shop, the Carnegies first and the Steel corporation officials later, repulsing all attempts at unionizing.

HOCKIN IN JAIL

Iron Workers' Secretary Not Trusted by Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Nov. 25.—Herbert S. Hockin, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers' International union and a defendant in the dynamite conspiracy case, was taken in custody at the direction of Judge Anderson in federal court and will be held in the Marion county jail until he is able to give $20,000 bond.

Judge Anderson said he believed Hockin could not be trusted and that, in the interest of his bondsmen, he believed the defendant ought to be turned over to the marshal. Hockin has been at liberty under a $10,000 bond, signed by his attorneys.

Two Killed in Auto Accident.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 25.—Howard James, director of purchases of the Great Northern railroad and a vice president, and Samuel H. Plechner, purchasing agent of the same road, were instantly killed when the auto in which they were driving turned turtle directly in front of James J. Hill's country home.

A Clear Majority of 149.

Washington, Nov. 25.—South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives, has completed the work of compiling the official list of members-elect of the new house. According to the list there are 292 Democrats and 143 Republicans, completing the total of 435. This gives the Democrats a clear majority of 149.

STATE TO TAKE ADVANCED STEP

Insane Patients to Be Turned to Profitable Account.

THE "COLONIZATION" METHOD

In Connection With the Eastern Hospital For the Insane at Richmond a Farm Will Be Dotted With Cottages in Which Will Be Placed Harmless Patients, Who Will Cultivate the Farm for the State's Profit.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 25.—Trustees of the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane have brought suit to condemn 150 acres of land in Center township, this county, which, if obtained, will be used for colonization purposes, as outlined by Dr. S. E. Smith, superintendent of the insane hospital, and approved by Governor Marshall. John L. Kempton and wife, the owners of the land, are made defendants.

The hospital trustees assert that they have offered a reasonable sum for the land, but the owners have refused to sell. A fund of $75,000 has been appropriated by the state to further the colonization plan, which is regarded as an advanced step in the treatment of the insane.

Under the plan proposed those not violently insane will be placed in cottages and allowed to cultivate the farms, the profits going to the state.

CAR DEMOLISHED

Five Persons Injured When Auto Ran Into Train.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 25.—When an automobile owned by Frank Navelle of Dunnington, Ind., collided with a Lake Erie & Western passenger train three miles from this city, Mrs. Navelle and a daughter were seriously injured and three other occupants of the car were bruised.

Mr. Navelle was coming to Lafayette with his wife, daughter Ruby, son Clarence and nephew, Lee Larch. The curtains on the machine were down and the five passengers had no view of the track. The passenger train was in a deep cut and was running at a speed of sixty miles an hour.

The automobile struck the side of the baggage car of the passenger train and was completely demolished. All of the occupants of the machine were thrown out and were scattered along the side of the railroad track.

GAS IN DAVIESS

Drillers Burned When Torches Ignite Unexpected Flow.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 25.—Excitement is intense in Reeve township, following the discovery of a strong flow of gas on the old Griffin farm. The flow was encountered at a depth of 375 feet, in what is known as the Loogootee sand. The well has been capped, awaiting instructions from the officials of the J. H. Duffy Oil and Gas company of Pittsburgh, which opened the well. The discovery of the gas at the depth it was encountered was wholly unexpected and the drillers were not prepared to take care of the flow. The gas ignited from the torches about the derrick and the housing was destroyed by fire, together with the clothing of the drillers.

New Officers of Y. M. C. A.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 25.—At the closing business session of the Indiana Y. M. C. A. convention in this city Clarence Kessinger of Vincennes was elected president; vice president, Frank E. Smith, Elkhart; secretary, E. M. Haas, Richmond; treasurer, John F. Wallick, Indianapolis.

Thanksgiving as It Is.

The actual conversation on this feast of heartfelt gratitude is something like this:

Mother—"How thankful we ought to be that we are all able to be here, and all well and——"

Jack "Say, Ma, you ought to have been there and seen Tom put across that run from the 15 yard line. Gee, but wasn't ——"

Father—"Yes, I think so too. And what a blessing it is that business has been good, and that while prices are so high we have enough to eat and a comfortable ——"

Gladys—"Yes, and just think that Dick who put the ball through the line was 25 pounds less weight than the average of the Billville team." Etc., etc.

Not that this newspaper would suggest a long face on this day of jubilation. There is no use in asking Jack and Gladys to go to church if they are going to look as cross as a gargoyles about it.

Still human nature is such that happiness cannot be secured merely on a basis of turkey and cranberry sauce. "A spark disturbs our clod" as Mr. Browning said. The poor widow who has said the heartfelt word of blessing over a stringy fowl, and who has invited in a neighbor who may be still poorer and lonelier, has more of the sunshine of the day than the rich man whose table is loaded with the cream of the markets.

There won't be any money in the coal business until the miners can be persuaded to strike a little more frequently.

The Carnegie foundation wants to pension ex-presidents. There is a growing feeling that when Uncle Sam turns his hired man out of the White house, he should give him something more than a suit of clothes and a railroad ticket home.

Congressmen are getting thousands of applications for jobs, but it is feared that our stubborn legislators will spend their time making laws instead of attending to these patriotic offers of service.

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high priced food with that old worn out cook stove?

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic and Malleable Charcoal Iron Range.

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a moveable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning,) heats 15 gal. water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during [demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300% stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

C. H. & D. INTENDS TO PUT IN BLOCK

System Will be Installed From Glenwood to Indianapolis Within Next 40 Days.

PLANS TO HASTEN THE WORK

Application For Extension of Time is Withdrawn Just Before Start of Inquiry.

Withdrawing its application for an extension of time, the C. H. & D. Railway Company has informed the Railroad Commission of Indiana that it will hasten the installation of automatic block signals, the use of which, it is asserted, would have prevented the Irvington wreck, with its toll of fifteen dead, on its line from Glenwood to the Ohio state line, as ordered, and that it will comply with an order which the commission has indicated it will make for the blocking of its line from Glenwood to Indianapolis.

After his return from Washington, where he attended the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, Chairman W. J. Wood was visited by J. M. Scott, supervisor of transportation of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Company, which owns the C. H. & D. road. Mr. Scott came as a representative of Vice President A. W. Thompson to assure the commission that his company will install the block signals, as ordered, by Jan. 1, and that it will comply with an order, to be issued in December, for block signals to be installed next year.

The announcement of the company that it will no longer press its request for an extension of time and that the blocks will be installed within the next forty days was made two days before the time set for the railroad commission to make an investigation of the Irvington wreck and determine the remedy for preventing a repetition of such a disaster.

The Railroad Commission of Indiana was to begin its investigation of the wreck today. The hearing will be conducted behind closed doors, as provided by law. W. J. Wood, chairman of the commission, has returned from Washington, where he has been attending the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners.

The estates of two of the victims of the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington were opened in Probate Court yesterday. The will of William H. Sharkey, the engineer who was killed, disposes of an estate valued at $14,000. Mrs. Mabel F. Wiggins, widow of Irvin M. Wiggins, another victim, was appointed administratrix of his estate. Wiggins was the conductor of the passenger train. The Sharkey property is willed to brothers and sisters of the testator. The larger part of the estate, including the real estate in Indianapolis, goes to Michael Sharkey, a brother. He was appointed executor.

DECLARES SHE WAS LED ASTRAY

Bertha Lawson, Age 19, of Knights-town, Tells Dreadful Story in Newcastle Court.

TO BE SIFTED THOROUGHLY

Two Men Implicated Are Called to Testify as Their Part of Case.

A tale of an unusual vicious nature that shocked the sensibilities of the most hardened of the police court spectators was told before Mayor Barnard Saturday by Bertha Lawson, a nineteen-year-old Kentucky mountain girl, in the trial of Mrs. Maggie Pressley Falcon, the Greenfield woman, who was arrested with the Lawson girl Friday in connection with the alleged finding of two white women Wednesday night with Aaron and Ben Bailey, colored, says the Newcastle Courier.

The girl, ignorant of the law and the customs of decency, testified in the case against the Falcon woman, who was charged with and pleaded not guilty to giving liquor to a minor. The state held that the defendant gave the Lawson girl a bottle of beer.

In her testimony the Lawson girl said that she came to Knightstown about two weeks ago from Kentucky. She met the Falcon woman last Sunday at the home of John Elliott in Knightstown, where she was employed, and accompanied the visitor back to Greenfield Wednesday Mrs. Falcon proposed that they come to Newcastle and the girl consented.

On their arrival here on a T. H. L. & E. car the witness testified that they went south on a street from the traction station and met the two colored men. They walked to the buggy of the Baileys and there the Falcon woman gave her a bottle of beer and drank one herself. She did not know where the beer came from.

Testifying in her own behalf, Mrs. Falcon said that Aaron Bailey gave the bottle of beer to the Lawson girl. She said that Aaron and his brother were there and that Aaron had three bottles. She denied riding with one of the Baileys or having been here with him last week.

After hearing the evidence of the two women Mayor Barnard concluded that he wanted the testimony of the Bailey brothers and ordered them summoned as witnesses. He then continued the case until Monday.

Mrs. Falcon pleaded not guilty to additional charges of intoxication and prostitution. Those cases were continued until next Wednesday when witnesses will be here for the state from Greenfield.

The Lawson girl pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge. She was fined $1 and costs and went to jail in default of the payment of the fine. She was also arraigned on a charge of prostitution and pleaded not guilty.

JUDGMENT ON A VERDICT

Judge Blair did not arrive in Rushville until about eleven o'clock and not much business was transacted in court this morning. The plaintiff in the case of James O. Nelson against Lafayette Johnson on an account moved for a judgment on the verdict of $25.50, which was returned by a jury last term of court, was sustained by the court.

The suit of Maude L. Wolcott against Harriett Plough and Will M. Bliss for $500 damages, which was set for trial today, was dismissed and the costs were paid.

The two cases against the commissioners, which are the outgrowth of the contract for a highway in Richland township being let to Wilk & Co. when they were not the highest bidders will come up tomorrow. It is thought about two days will be required in hearing the suits. One of them will probably be dismissed in view of the fact they have the same intent.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

THE ROOT OF EVIL

BY THOMAS DIXON

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

"In other words," Bivens interrupted coldly, "you inform me that you have always known that I stole from your prescription counter the formula which gave me my first fortune."

The financier began to speak with slow venomous energy:

"I've let you ramble on in your maudlin talk, Woodman, because it amused me. For years I've waited your coming. Your unexpected advent is the sweetest triumph of this festive night."

He paused and a sinister smile played about his mouth. "The last time I saw you I promised myself that I'd make you come to me the next time and when you did that you'd come on your hands and knees. And I swore that when you looked up into my face groveling and whining for mercy as you have tonight, I'd call my servants and order them to kick you down my doorstep."

He leaned across the massive flat top desk to touch an electric button.

The doctor's fist suddenly gripped the outstretched hand and his eyes glared into the face of the financier with the dangerous look of a madman. "You had better not ring that bell, yet," he said, with forced quiet in his tones.

"Your trade gives me an idea," said Bivens. "I want you to stay until the festivities end, and enjoy yourself. Take a look over my house. It cost two millions to build it, and requires half a million a year to keep it up. The butterflies those dancers are crushing beneath their feet in my ballroom I imported from Central America at a cost of $5,000. The favors in jewelry I shall give to my rich guests who have no use for them will be worth $25,000. Remember that I spent three hundred and fifty thousand on this banquet, which lasted eight hours, and that I will see you and your daughter dead and in the bottomless pit before I will give you one penny. Enjoy yourself. It's a fine evening."

Before the doctor could answer, the financier laughed and left the room.

For a long time the dazed man stood motionless. He passed his big hand over his forehead in a vague instinctive physical effort to lift the fog of horror and despair that was slowly strangling him.

He felt that he was suffocating. He tore his collar apart to give himself room to breathe. He thrust his hand into the hip pocket of his dress suit where he usually carried a handkerchief and felt something hard and cold.

It was a revolver he had been accustomed to carry of late in his rounds through the dangerous quarters of the city. Without thinking when he dressed, he had transferred it to his evening suit. His hand closed over the ivory handle with a sudden fierce joy.

"Yes, I'll kill him in his magnificent ballroom, to the strains of his own music!" he said, half aloud. "I'll give a fit climax to his dance of death and the worm."

He quickly descended the stairs and saw Bivens talking with his wife. He Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Rushville people are in this chorus. Here's a Rushville case.

S. Bebout, 404 W. First St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are just as represented and I am glad to recommend them. I had pains through my back and kidneys and the action of my kidneys was irregular. When I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills I did so and they soon brought relief."

didn't wish to kill him in her presence, and as he passed a look of hatred flashed from the little black eyes of the millionaire. He made up his mind to kill him at the moment the dance was at the highest pitch of gaiety.

The music began, and the dancers once more whirled into the center of the room and the crowd filled the space under the grand arch which led into the hall. Bivens was the center of an admiring group of sycophants and worshipful snobs. The doctor's heart gave a mad throb of joy. His hour had come.

With quick strides he covered the space which separated them and without a moment's hesitation thrust his hand into his breast for his revolver. Not a muscle or nerve quivered. His finger touched the trigger softly and he gave Bivens a look which he meant he should take with him into eternity, when just beyond him he saw Harriet. She stood motionless with a look of mute agony on her fair young face, watching Stuart talk to Bivens' wife.

His finger slipped from the trigger and his hand loosed its deadly grip.

"Have I forgotten my baby?" he cried in sudden anguish. And then another vision dashed through his excited brain. A courtroom, a prisoner, his own bowed figure the center of a thousand eyes while the jury brought in their verdict.

His breath came in labored gasps as one mad thought succeeded another.

"No," he said hoarsely. "I must save her. I must be cunning. I must succeed—not fail. I must get what I came here for. I must save my baby. My own fate is of no importance. She is everything."

Bivens had taken from him by fraud his formula, destroyed his business and robbed him of all he possessed. The law gave him power to hold it. He, too, would appeal to the same power and take what belonged to him. No matter how, he would take it, and he would take it tonight.

Bivens had boasted that his favors in jewelry would be worth $25,000.

The doctor turned quickly and began to search the house until he found the half drunken servant arranging these packages under the direction of a secretary. These favors had been made for the occasion by a famous jeweler—a diamond pin of peculiar design, a gold death's head with diamond teeth and eyes surmounted by a butterfly and a caterpillar. The stones in each piece were worth $100. They lay on a table in little open jewel boxes, fifty in a box, and each box contained $5,000 worth of gold and precious stones.

The doctor inspected the boxes with exclamations of wonder and admiration. He bent low over the table for an instant, and when he left one of the jewel cases rested securely in his pocket.

He was amazed at his own skill and a thrill of fierce triumph filled his being as he realized that he had succeeded and that his little girl would go to Europe and complete her work. He spoke pleasantly to the secretary and congratulating him on his good fortune in securing such a master, turned and strolled leisurely back to the ballroom.

Not for a moment did he doubt the safety of his act. He was a chemist and knew the secret of the laboratory. He would melt the gold into a single bar and sell the diamonds as he needed them. His only regret was that he could not have taken the full amount he had demanded of the little scoundrel. He found Harriet and they started at once for home.

"Did you have a good time?"

"Yes, when I could forget the pain in my heart. You succeeded? It's all right? I'm going abroad at once to study?"

The doctor laughed aloud in a burst of fierce joy.

"Certainly, my dear!" The tears sprang into the gentle eyes as he answered gratefully.

"You can't know how happy you've made me."

Bivens, who had heard the doctor's laughter, passed and said with exaggerated courtesy:

"I trust you have enjoyed the evening, Woodman?"

The doctor laughed again in his face.

"More than I can possibly tell you." Bivens followed to the door and watched him slowly walk down the steps.

DRUGGIST RECOMMENDS

Vinol For Run-Down People.

If any one person should know the value of medicines it is the druggist who dispenses them and from our experience we want to say if people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to supply the demand.

This is because Vinol is a combination of the two most world famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative element of cods' livers without the oil, the iron for the blood.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, promotes healthful sleep and a normal appetite.

Old people, delicate children, run-down, overworked and tired women should try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSE WAR PREPARATIONS

International Congress Discusses the Situation.

Basle, Nov. 25.—Representing twenty countries, four hundred and fifty delegates met here at the opening session of the International Socialistic congress. Some of the most prominent Socialists in Europe are present and will participate in the congress, which will last three days. These include Dr. Bebel of Germany, Jules Jaures of France, Herr Vandervelde of Belgium, Herr Adler of Austria, and Keir Hardie of Great Britain.

The principal object of the congress is to protest against war and the attitude of the great powers. There were forcible speeches on this subject, especially by Jules Jaures and Keir Hardie. The congress will discuss among other things the question of a general strike in the event of a European war. Herr Bebel has been seriously ill and confined to his bed ever since his arrival.

The Parisian View.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Despite the efforts to take an optimistic view of the situation, it is certain that the tension of Europe is very grave. Austria is the darkest factor. The mobilization of the Austrian army is general, although the Viennese newspapers do not print this, as they are under strict censorship in military matters. Italy, for reasons of her own, is anxious to prevent a conflict between her ally, Austria, and Serbia, whereas Germany, the third member of the triple alliance, would be glad to see a rupture between the countries.

Servians Occupy Ochrida.

Belgrade, Nov. 25.—The Servians have occupied Ochrida without opposition. King Peter returned here Sunday after an absence of five weeks at the front. He was saluted by the artillery and welcomed by the ministers and officials and the Russian envoy and by enthusiastic acclamations of citizens along the streets. The city was decorated and illuminated in his honor.

OUR RIGHT TO FORTIFY CANAL

Stimson Shows That Panama Defenses Are a Necessity.

NO VIOLATION OF TREATY.

American and British Statesmen Who Negotiated It Recognized Our Intentions, Says Secretary of War in Magazine Article.

In an article in the Scientific American Secretary of War Stimson takes strong ground not only on the absolute right of the United States to fortify the Panama canal, but on the need for such defenses as a matter of great national expediency.

Secretary Stimson denies that the fortification of the canal would be a violation of this country's obligation to Great Britain under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. He thus summarizes the legal situation:

"In the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850 the United States and Great Britain expressly agreed not to fortify or assume any dominion over any part of Central America where the canal might be made. The first draft of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty of Feb. 5, 1900, contained a similar prohibition to the effect that 'no fortification shall be erected commanding the canal or the waters adjacent.' This proposed treaty in this form was rejected by the senate for the very reason that it did not give the United States sufficient liberty of action in regard to the canal. The present Hay-Pauncefote treaty was then negotiated, which in its first article entirely abrogated the old Clayton-Bulwer treaty and also omitted the restrictions against fortification which had been contained in the first proposed Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

"The memorandum which Mr. Hay sent to the senate with the second Hay-Pauncefote treaty, containing the correspondence between himself and Lords Pauncefote and Lansdowne, shows that these changes were made for the express purpose of permitting the United States to fortify and defend the canal and that Lord Lansdowne fully understood and recognized this right on our part.

Lansdowne's Statement.

"As to this Lord Lansdowne expressly said:

"It is most important that no doubt should exist as to the intention of the contracting parties. As to this, I understand that by the omission of all reference to the matter of defense of the United States government desires to reserve the power of taking measures to protect the canal at any time when the United States may be at war from destruction or damage at the hands of an enemy or enemies.

"The congress of the United States then proceeded the following year in the Spooner act (section 5) to authorize the president to enter into the contracts for the construction of the canal and its 'defenses.' And in the following year, 1903, Mr. Hay, the same statesman who had negotiated the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, negotiated a treaty with the republic of Panama by which Panama granted to the United States for the purpose of the canal the use, occupation and control of the present Panama canal zone and also granted to the United States for the protection of each canal the right to use its land and naval forces and to establish fortifications. (Bunau Varilla treaty, article 23.)

"The Hay-Pauncefote treaty and the Bunau Varilla treaties are the only existing treaties entered into by the United States which affect its rights over the Panama canal. It is perfectly clear, therefore, from the foregoing facts that none of the statesmen, either of Great Britain or Panama or the United States, who were concerned at the time in the negotiation of these treaties or the enactment of legislation to make them effective had any doubt as to the right or purpose of the United States to defend and fortify the canal."

Necessity For Fortification.

As to the necessity for the fortification of the canal for the protection of the United States in time of war Secretary Stimson is fully convinced. He says:

"It has been earnestly argued that the safety of the canal can be better and more cheaply assured by an agreement between the leading nations, making it a neutral waterway and forbidding it from ever being blockaded or seized in time of war. It is argued that such a course will relieve us from the expense and burden of defending the canal and that it will at the same time accomplish every result which we could accomplish by defending it ourselves.

"This is an entire misconception. It loses sight of the vital difference between an American canal and an international canal. It loses sight of the fact that it is of vital importance to this country not only that the canal shall be open to our fleet in case of war, but that it shall be closed to the fleet of our enemy. An international canal, kept open and defended by agreement between the powers, from its very nature would have to be open to our opponent as well as to ourselves."

Secretary Stimson finally gives an outline of the character of fortifications he deems necessary for the proper defense of the canal.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR ENGINEERS

Eastern Roads Lose Out in Arbitration.

FIFTY-TWO ROADS AFFECTED

Award of Board of Arbitration Appointed to Adjust Long-Standing Wage Dispute, Brings the Eastern Roads Face to Face With Probable Demands For Increased Wages by the Firemen and Other Employees.

Washington, Nov. 25.--Their fight for an increase in wages has been won by thirty-five thousand locomotive engineers of eastern roads. The board of arbitration between the railroads and the engineers in its award just made public does not grant all of the engineers' demands, but establishes a minimum wage, which amounts to a substantial increase on most of the roads. The award by the board of arbitration probably brings the fifty-two railroads of the east face to face with demands for increased wages by the firemen and other employees. Notwithstanding the increase in compensation, P. H. Morrissey, the representative of the engineers on the board, dissents from the award and says the settlement accepted by it can be only temporary. The award is retroactive, counting for only one year from May 1, 1912. This means that within five months the railroads of the east probably will be confronted by further demands from the engineers and again may have to meet the possibility of a strike.

May Raise Freight Rates.

The railroads estimated that the demands on the part of the engineers, if granted, would entail an additional expenditure of $7,172,000 a year. If the same percentage of increase were granted to other employees the additional expense would amount in all to $67,000,000. The board of arbitration expresses the opinion that this total is too high, but it does not attempt to give exact figures as to the additional burden that the award may impose upon the railroads of the east. The findings of the arbitration board are regarded here as practically insuring a renewed attempt on the part of the railroads to raise freight rates.

The more important features of the award are: A minimum wage of $4.25 per 100 miles or less for engineers in passenger service, with an overtime rate of 50 cents per hour with an average speed of twenty miles per hour; a minimum of $4.75 for engineers in through freight service per day of 100 miles or less, with overtime pro rata after ten hours; 25 cents additional per day in local freight service, and $4.10 per day of ten hours or less in switching service. All existing rates higher than these minimum are continued in force.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED

That is What Suffragists Say About Their Convention Row.

Philadelphia, Nov. 25.--The cause of suffrage apparently has triumphed over its internal differences, and today the conquerors and the conquered in the battle of Saturday, when Jane Addams of Chicago, now dubbed "the Moses of suffrage," swept aside all the opposition, defeating Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and her followers, are standing back to back fighting for a country-wide vote for women.

When the aftermath of the battle stopped it looked very much as if the supporters of Mrs. Belmont might withdraw from the National American Woman Suffrage association in their chagrin at being defeated, when they sought to amend the constitution of the organization so that the officers of the association could not ally themselves with any political party.

So serious was the breach that Sunday there was an executive meeting of the executive board of the association for the purpose of discussing the matter. Nothing was given out beyond the statement of the president of the association, Dr. Anna B. Shaw, who said that the matter had been discussed and everybody satisfied, but it is believed that there was a tacit agreement made among the officers that they would not affiliate themselves with any party unless such an affiliation was absolutely necessary. This promise, it is believed, was the diplomatic sop which was passed to the members who stood by Mrs. Belmont, and were on the losing side of the proposition.

NEW PAVING ENTERPRISE

My Daddy-in-Law, John W. (Buck) Tompkins, told a friend, in speaking of me, that the only reason I hadn't paved the streets with GOLD BRICKS from the store to my residence was lack of Funds.

What's the matter with all my friends and those interested in the city's welfare patronizing me and helping supply me with the funds. How would you like to see Rushville paved with Gold Bricks?

SIoux RESERVATION SWEEP BY FLAMES A Thousand Square Miles Devastated.

Pine Ridge Indian Agency, S. D., Nov. 25.--Mostly within the Sioux Indian reservation, a thousand square miles of territory has been swept by a prairie fire of huge proportions. The town of White Owl is reported entirely wiped out. A dozen other towns were threatened. An unknown number of homesteaders' shacks were burned and every soul in a strip ten miles wide and more than 100 miles long is exhausted from having fought fire for almost forty-eight hours without rest. Rumors are that several homesteaders were caught and burned to death.

Practically all telephone wires are down and the full extent of the damage is not yet known. Three different fires started and, fanned by a brisk wind, the flames were soon leaping across the prairie.

At Cut Meat, a station on the Indian reservation, a crowd of Indians fought the fire two days and nights. During the fight the life of a fourteen-year-old Indian boy was saved in a dramatic manner by J. B. Brown, an auto dealer of Valentine, Neb. The boy became surrounded by flames and was on the verge of being burned to death, when Brown secured the assistance of a volunteer. Both wrapped themselves in wet blankets and drove the auto through the wall of fire to the lad. As it sped by the boy the volunteer grabbed him and jerked him into the auto, which kept on through the second wall of fire to safety. All three were singed and the machine was blistered.

Member of Prominent Family Arrested on Forgery Charge.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 25.--Claiming that he is a graduate of Yale, a member of an influential family, and that five different times he has been president of big coal concerns, Henry Ames Van Auten of New York city was arrested at a leading Atlanta club to answer the charge of passing worthless checks at various places.

Van Auten takes his arrest coolly. "I have gone such a pace I have burnt up my tires," he said, "but I'm sport enough to face the music, and it may be well to add that when you dance there is the fiddler to be paid."

O. D. TYNER NEW TEACHERS' HEAD

Local High School Principal is Elected President of Association at Closing Session.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Praise Prof. A. M. Taylor Who Retires to Become Clerk of Circuit Court.

At the closing session of the Rush County Teachers Association in the Graham high school building Saturday afternoon, new officers were elected and resolutions, prepared by a committee appointed by the presiding officer, were adopted.

The resolutions lamented the loss of A. M. Taylor, retiring superintendent of the Milroy schools who was elected clerk of the Rush circuit court. The document praised him highly for his services as a school teacher, and stated that he was a loss to the profession in Rush county.

The resolutions also referred in complimentary terms to officers who prepared the delightful program for this year's meeting.

The highest praises possible were sounded for Prof. W. M. Wirt superintendent of the Gary schools who lectured to the teachers twice during the meeting Saturday.

The teachers generally were highly pleased with the lectures by Prof. Wirt. Many of them declared that it gave them a new insight into profession of the teacher and helped them greatly. Many stated that they received some good sound advice which they will most likely find useful in solving problems which may arise in the school room in the future.

Saturday afternoon Prof. Wirt talked on the subject, "The Care of The Child." It was more of a philosophical treatise which dealt with the relations between pupil and teacher and the methods which teachers should use to best govern the child. In the morning his talk was more in detail with the concrete example of the Gary school system.

John Geraghty, retiring president of the association and principal of the Moscow schools, is responsible for Prof. Wirt coming to Rushville. He heard the Gary superintendent at the meeting of the National Teachers Association and prevailed on him to come here for the annual meeting.

O. D. Tyner, principal of the Rushville high school, was elected president of the Association to succeed John Geraghty. Solon E. Tevis of Orange township was elected vice-president to succeed Clara Herbst. Miss Cecil Eakins of Washington township was named secretary. Miss Belle Gregg of this city is the retiring secretary. Charles W. Myers Richland township was elected treasurer to succeed Solon E. Tevis.

The nominating committee which selected the officers, consisted of one representative from each school corporation. The meeting concurred in the report of the nominating committee and the election was unanimous. A new executive committee was appointed.

The Manilla high school team defeated the Moscow school team at the latter place Friday night by the score of 11 to 6. While they were giving Moscow a drubbing, the Manilla Independents were giving the Waldron Independents a drubbing at the latter place. The score was 23 to 13.

BIG GAME THANKSGIVING

Local Football Team Will Take on Maxwells.

The one big football game of the season, as far as Rushville is concerned, will be played here Thursday when the Maxwells of Newcastle will be taken on. The Rushville team has a clean slate so far, and a win over the Maxwells would look pretty good. The auto-makers have a strong team and the locals will be forced to extend themselves in order to win. A record crowd will see the game from present indications. The Newcastle team will come here on a special train and will be accompanied by a large crowd of rooters.

ed on the ground that no legislature would enact a law compelling Commissioners to appropriate public money for private purposes, and should it do so foolish a thing, the law would be void. The motion was, therefore, not adopted.

Without farther discussion of the matter as to experimental methods, why not try business methods? While it may be entertaining to have speed, do not put over half the gate receipts into that department alone, at least until it is an established fact that the speed draws over half the people.

Instead of doing away with the department of women, as advocated, extend it to the limit. Instead of trying to make our fair from surrounding counties, work up and rely upon our own. Instead of continually going into debt, during the best series of fair years, estimate the probable income and keep within it. Above and over all other considerations, eliminate all gambling devices, pool selling, dance houses, shows for men only, and every species of immorality tending to corrupt men and especially the youth. A fair that tolerates such things should contribute the large proportion of the cost of revival meetings.

There is no reasonable reason why the Rush County Fair Association can not pay its debts, though it has reached the enormous sum of $2,500, and enter upon a series of successful years without passing the hat or trying to legislate money out of the county treasury into our treasury.

DROPS REVOLVER AND IT EXPLODES

William Smith is Shot Through Leg
Today After Having Killed a Rabbit.

ON WM. A. ALEXANDER FARM

Trigger Catches on Wire Fence Which Causes Gun to go Off—Hurts
Not Serious.

The first hunting accident of the season in Rush county happened on the William A. Alexander farm west of the city today when William Smith, a farm laborer, was shot through the leg with a revolver.

The shooting was purely accidental, and a peculiar accident at that. The man is not believed to be seriously wounded and it is not likely that he will suffer any evil effects from the mishap, according to Dr. R. T. Blount, who was called and dressed the wound.

Mr. Alexander and Mr. Smith were out working along a fence on the farm. The farm laborer carried a revolver while at work, thinking that he might get a shot at a rabbit while working on the farm.

The expected happened this morning. A rabbit jumped up in front of Mr. Smith and he drew his revolver and fired hastily. He killed the rabbit and rushed over to where it had dropped dead alongside the wire fence.

Mr. Smith leaned over to pull the rabbit's head off and the revolver slipped from his pocket. In some way it struck the wire fence so that the trigger was pulled and the gun exploded.

The bullet entered the fleshy part of his leg just above the knee. The bullet penetrated the flesh and passed out on the side, passing a distance of eight inches through the flesh. It narrowly missed the bone.

The accident was witnessed by Mr. Alexander who was only a few feet distant. He helped Mr. Smith to the house and Dr. Blount was summoned. Smith suffered considerable pain from the wound.

In Order to Prevent Spread of Disease.

CHILDREN KEPT OFF STREET

The town health board of the little village of Glenwood is taking every precaution to prevent a spread of scarlet fever epidemic which prevails there. The health board has taken such drastic steps as to prohibit any child from leaving the town unless its parents present a doctor's certificate to the health board that the child has not been subject to the disease and is free from the disease if it has ever been afflicted.

No public gatherings are allowed in the town and no children are allowed to play out-of-doors. It is said that this order is being enforced to the letter. Although there are only four or five cases in Glenwood, an earnest endeavor is being made to see that the number does not grow larger.

Mrs. Spencer is soloist at the Memorial Presbyterian church and also at the Hebrew Temple, being a great favorite at both churches.

DEATH COMES TO JAMES HINCHMAN

Well Known Aged Resident Expires
at Home Here Following Stroke of Paralysis.

LEAVES WIDOW AND 3 SONS

James H. Hinchman, 80 years old, a well known resident of this city, died this morning shortly after seven o'clock at his home, 337 East Sixth street. Death was caused by a stroke of paralysis which he suffered recently. Because of his advanced age, little hope for his recovery had been maintained. He is survived by his widow and three sons, Morton, Gurney and Delta.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at the late residence. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday morning from 9 o'clock until 11 o'clock.

MAY BE NECESSARY TO AMPUTATE LEG

John Gantner, Sr., is in Precarious
Condition Because he Trimmed
Corn Too Closely.

HIS TOE HAS BEEN CUT OFF

Because he trimmed his corn too closely more than a month ago, John Gantner, Sr., an aged man who is well known in Rushville, may have to have his leg amputated above the knee.

Mr. Gantner's toe was sore after the operation he performed but he allowed it to go until it was too late. He put corn medicine on it without avail. When a physician was called it was found the blood poisoning had set in. The injured toe became so bad that it was necessary to cut it off at the first joint.

This did not stop the ravages of the disease and it was soon found necessary to amputate the whole toe. But it now seems that this operation has not rid the aged man of the disease and the attending physician had advised that his leg be amputated above the knee.

INFANT HEASTON DEAD.

The one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Heaston, died yesterday afternoon at their home in Jersey City after an illness with pneumonia and whooping cough. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

WHOOPS ARE NOT ABATED IN LEAST

Disease Still Prevails in City Schools
As it Did at Opening
In the Fall.

IS CONFINED TO RUSHVILLE

Township Schools Get One Week
Vacation Christmas—Tickets
For State Association Here.

The whooping cough which has been an epidemic among the children of Rushville since the opening of school in the fall has not abated in the least. James Miller, county truant officer, made this statement this morning in the office of the county superintendent of the schools, and he is well qualified to make such an assertion. The epidemic is confined to the city schools.

A good part of the pupils who are in the schools now are immune from the whooping cough because they have already passed through a siege of the disease and are back in school once more. Others, however, are afflicted. In some rooms of the city schools, it is said, a third of the normal enrollment is out with the disease.

The problem with the teachers is how to accommodate the large classes which will be made next year by the condition which exists this year. Many of the pupils who have been out two months with whooping cough cannot possibly pass in their studies. This will hold them back and congest the middle grades as the disease is not so common in the primary and second grades, nor in the higher grades of the grammar school. The buildings here are already crowded, and with the usual class moved up and many held back from the preceding class, the crowded conditions will be intensified.

Arrangements have been made for the two holiday vacations which come next on the calendar, as far as the county schools are concerned. All schools outside of the city of Rushville and other school corporations in the county which are governed by special school boards, will have only one week's vacation for Christmas. The schools will close Friday evening, December 20, and reconvene Monday morning, December 30.

It is understood that the holiday vacation for the city schools has not yet been determined. The Thanksgiving vacation for the township schools as well as the Rushville schools will be the same as it has always been. They will close Wednesday evening before Thanksgiving, which is next Wednesday evening, and take up again the following Monday.

County Supt. C. M. George wishes to announce that he has received the tickets for the State Teachers' Association which will meet in annual session at Indianapolis December 26, 27 and 28. The price of the tickets for the teachers will be fifty cents and all teachers in the county can obtain them from either Supt. George or Supt. Scholl of the city schools.

The entire proceedings of the convention will be printed early in 1913 and every teacher who enrolls and is in attendance at the meeting, will receive copies.

Both Superintendent George and Scholl requests that all teachers attend as many of the sessions of the meeting as is possible.

It is the desire of the local officials that this county be in the front ranks. The semi-annual examinations in the township schools will be held the Tuesday and Wednesday before Christmas, December 17 and 18.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR LOCAL TEAM

High School Will Take on Some of Best Teams in State This Season.

FIRST GAME AT FRANKLIN

Prospects Are Not Very Bright But
Prof. Smelser May Develop a Winning Aggregation.

The Rushville high school basketball team faces a hard schedule for the coming season. The schedule has been completed by Prof. Smelser, with the exception of possibly two games—one with North Vernon and one with Madison. These two games are pending.

Possibly fifteen games will be played and the schedule includes some of the best teams in the state. The schedule this year is considered the best one in recent years and the team will be up against a severe test in carrying it out. The season will open December 13 with a game at Franklin. Prof. Smelser and the team are not the least superstitious in starting the season and hope to win the opener even if it comes on Friday, the thirteenth as this one does.

Prospects for a winning team are not the brightest in the world as the material is lacking. However Prof. Smelser hopes to develop a winning aggregation and the team has a fighting chance of getting a majority of the games. Three of last years team remain in school and will make a hard fight for the team. Webb at center, Roan at guard and Cameron at forward seem certain of a berth. Webb is practically assured of the job at center and Cameron will more than likely be one of the forwards.

The guard material is plentiful and includes Roan, Frasier and Griffin. According to Prof. Smelser the team is shy on goals getters but the most promising includes Hinkle, McDonald, Knecht, Simms and Cameron. The team will soon get down to practice in earnest and before the season is far advanced the team may give a good account of itself.

The schedule is as follows.
Dec. 13—Rushville at Franklin.
Dec. 20—Rushville at Shelbyville.
Dec. 21—Carthage at Rushville.
Jan. 3—Rushville at Richmond.
Jan. 10—Shelbyville at Rushville.
Jan. 17—Rushville at Connersville.
Jan. 24—Newcastle at Rushville.
Jan. 31—Rushville at Newcastle.
Feb. 4—Rushville at Carthage.
Feb. 15—Richmond at Rushville.
Feb. 21—Connersville at Rushville.
March 1—Rushville at Madison.
March 14—Franklin at Rushville.

The funeral will be held at the residence Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock and burial will take place in Bennett cemetery.

BLIZZARD HITS RUSHVILLE

But Fair Weather is Promised by Prognosticator Tomorrow.

The first snowstorm of the season hovered over Rushville yesterday. Snow fell most of the time all day Sunday, but the strong south winds which accompanied the storm failed to make the snow stick. The temperature yesterday morning was below freezing, and was the lowest of the winter. A lower temperature prevailed today than yesterday even though the day was not so disagreeable. Fair weather is promised for tomorrow.

According to the report filed by V. R. Spurgeon, treasurer, the Democratic central committee spent $1,289.84 in the campaign proper and received in contributions $1,376.25, which leaves a balance of $86.41.

The major portion of the contributions were from the candidates. A few of the candidates gave $150 and the largest individual contribution outside the candidates was $100, given by Lon H. Mull of Manilla.

The expenditures were for postage, telephone, band hire, rentals, clerical work and other things incident to the campaign. James Casady, vice-chairman, according to the report, received $200 for help about headquarters. Stenographers were paid $149 for their services and one item of postage was $167.70. Fourteen men who performed the double service of poll book holder and challenger received $2 each. Thirty-two other men who performed the tasks separately, according to the report, received $1.50 each. Rent for headquarters was $64 and for club rooms $20.

FACES CHARGE OF TAKING BICYCLE

Fred Hatfield is Bound Over to Court
For Theft of Frank Muire's Wheel.

POLICE WANT DONALD NEWLIN

Fred Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hatfield, was bound over to the circuit court this afternoon by Mayor Black after he had pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing a bicycle from Frank Muire. His bond was fixed at $250 and in default he was returned to jail.

Hatfield was arrested Saturday night. The police claim they traced the stealing of a bicycle to Hatfield and Donald Newlin. It is alleged that the two boys, who hid the bicycle under the Adams Produce Company's building sold some hides to Oneal's and in this manner connect Hatfield and Newlin with the case. The Newlin boy suddenly left the city but the police hope to capture him soon. Several bicycles have been stolen recently and the police believe the gang will be broken up with the arrest of Hatfield.

NEW PROCESSES ARE FAILURES

County Fair Stockholder of Foggy
Class Argues Old-Fashioned
Methods Should be Used.

TO INSURE FURTHER SUCCESS

No Reason Why It Should Not be Made Paying Venture Without Passing Hat.

A stockholder of the Rush County Fair Association, who says he is one of the old, foggy class of stockholders, has contributed an article to the Daily Republican pertaining to the management of the fair, in which he strikes an optimistic note and declares the fair can be made to pay off its $2500 indebtedness without passing the hat or attempting to legislate money out of the people's pockets. The article follows:

As a stockholder in the Rush County Fair Association and one who believes that, with proper management, the fair has a successful future and can readily pay the large debt now charged against it without resorting to any begging processes, allow me a word in your paper.

That the Fair has scored more mistakes than successes within the last few years, is conceded by every one known to the facts. It may be said that I belonged to the old "foggy" class of fair operators. Very well, let it be so claimed and at the same time noted that the old "foggy" processes were successful while the new "foggy" processes have been failures. In looking for remedies for the mistakes of recent years care should be taken lest the cure be worse than the disease. Usually when the traveler finds that he has taken the wrong road he seeks the right one—another way, and before entering upon it assures himself that it is the right one.

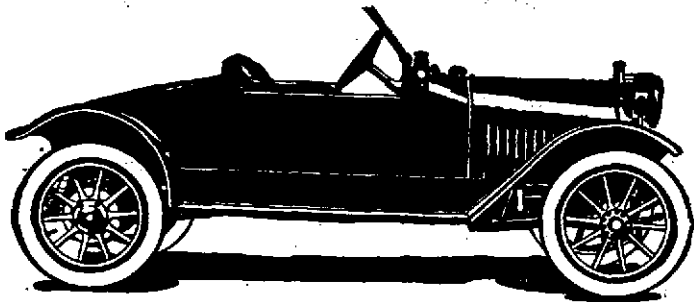

At a recent meeting forty-four, or about one-fifth of the stockholders of the Association, a panacea was administered whereby the stockholders who have been holding "their knuckles" for the many years while their property was depreciating in value by the accumulation of debt, many of them having their entire holding in the previous fair, and for the sake of keeping this county in the forefront of agricultural counties of the state, again put up their money, were required, hereafter, to pay their way into their own property besides owning it, for the use and benefit of the general public without interest or dividend. It would have been more equitable to have sold the property and let the men who wished to reinvest on the new basis buy it.

Again, when the Traction Company paid $3500 it would have been a better policy to have then sold the property, divided the money, among those entitled to it and accepted the proposition of W. A. Jones who offered to lease his track and grounds and apportionances to the Association for a period of twelve years, free of rent, for fair purposes, than to have spent so much money building a track that but few men if any, would speed a real fast horse upon it. Again many are anxious to have the county make a donation to help pay the debt. The law permits the Commissions. In their discretion, and upon a petition to loan the Association a stipulated sum which would remain a lien upon the real personal property of the Association until repaid to the county with six percent interest. A motion was made and entertained, at said meeting that a committee be appointed to lobby the legislature for a law compelling the Commissioners to appropriate money for fair.

This motion was vigorously opposed.

ADRIANOPLE IS NEAR ITS FALL

Turks Cannot Hold Out Much Longer.

REINFORCEMENTS POURING IN

Both the Army Before the Ancient Capital of Thrace and the Wearied Bulgars Before the Tchataldja Lines Are Receiving Long Needed Help in the Way of Heavy Guns to Batter Down the Resistance of the Turks.

Vienna, Nov. 25.—The situation is more hopeful than ever because Serbia, recognizing the Austrian view about Albania, demands only an Adriatic port. Meanwhile France is endeavoring to persuade Austria and Serbia to compromise their differences. It is anticipated that Turkey may prolong the war, as Bulgaria's situation in the field, is deplorable. The Bulgarian troops lack food and ammunition and floods have rendered the roads impassable, so that it is impossible to replenish their supplies.

Constantinople, Nov. 25.—The Bulgarian peace negotiators arrived at the Bulgarian headquarters on Saturday. It is expected that they will meet the Turkish plenipotentiaries today. There are, indeed, reports that the two bodies met on Sunday, one story going so far as to say that an armistice for a week was arranged. According to this both sides agreed to keep their respective positions without bringing up any reinforcements. These reports cannot be confirmed.

London, Nov. 25.—Fierce fighting continues around beleaguered Adrianople, and the allies say confidently that the Turks in the city are on the verge of surrendering.

Coming through roads almost impassable because of the floods and through passes that are choked with snow, are the reinforcements for the Bulgars and Serbs, both in front of Adrianople and battling on the Tchataldja lines. With them they are bringing the heavy field guns that the Bulgarians so sorely need in their attempts to pierce the lines held by Nazim Pasha at the Constantinople defenses.

And while they wait the Serbs, upon whom has fallen the brunt of the siege of Adrianople since the Bulgars swung down to Tchataldja, continue to pour a heavy shell fire into the forts.

The Vienna Reichspost prints a dispatch that purports to be inspired by Archduke Francis Ferdinand or some of his advisers that he is returning from his conference with the kaiser in Berlin convinced that if there should be more than mere talk in the quarrel between Austria and Serbia over a strip of seacoast, then Germany will stand shoulder to shoulder with Austria.

With a flotilla of Austrian fighting craft steaming down the Danube to anchor off the capital of the country whose relations with Austria are so strained, with troops marching to the borders of that country, with fighting men called to arms in Germany and Russia, the situation is one of the most nerve-racking tension.

An Especial Source of Worry.

The approach of the Danube flotilla to Belgrade is an especial source of worry to diplomats, who realize what might happen if anything that might be interpreted as hostile should occur while that flotilla was in sight of the Serbs' capital.

On the other hand, strenuous efforts are being made by the French republic to bridge the chasm between Austria and Serbia. The endeavors have not yet emerged from their initial state, but there are sound reasons for assuming that they will be crowned with success. This beneficent action of the French government is a new and important factor in the international drama. As the republic has hitherto given undeniable proofs of warm friendship for Serbia, it has acquired the right to be heard when offering counsels of moderation. Accordingly, between Premier Poincaré and the Serbian minister at Paris the subject has been mooted and the conversations are expected to continue.

On these grounds the outlook at the present moment is characterized in some circles as even more reassuring than several days ago. True, war between Austria-Hungary on the one hand and Serbia and Russia on the other, is being spiritedly carried on by the press of the respective countries, whose readers they treat each morning to the rattling of sabers and the clinking of rifles, which heated fancy hears behind the scratching of the mighty pens, and it also is true that there still is profound antagonism of spirit between Slav and Austrian publicist which operates as a troubling medium in distorting ideas that rightfully apprehended would link the two states in friendship. It is understood that Russia is relying on a European conference after the war to settle disputed matters and is determined to avoid war unless in defense of her own frontiers.

Cholera continues its ravages unabated in and about Constantinople.

AMUSEMENTS

Another treat in store for the patrons of the Shubert Murat theater, Indianapolis, is "Bunty Pulls The Strings," Grayham Moffat's famous comedy, the sweeping success of which, in New York and London, has been the biggest sensation of the dramatic world in recent years. "Bunty" presented by an all-Scottish company of eighteen players, including Miss Molly McIntyre and William Lennox, will be at the Shubert Murat the entire week of Nov. 25th. There will be a Special Thanksgiving matinee.

The story of the play deals principally with the tangled affairs of Tammas Bigger, father of Bunty. Tammas is a widower, a pillar of the church and an honored citizen of the little Highland village of Lintiehaugh. But he has had a past, has been something of a gay old dog in his day, and no one knows this better than Susie Simpson, the testy and hypocritical spinster around whose machinations the play largely revolves. Bunty, in love with Veelum sprunt, irons out in deft, ingenious manner, the entanglements in which her father is enmeshed.

While she is going about this task there are presented to the audience many highly amusing situations, man scenes that are brimful of quaintness and humor—scenes and situations which have caused several critics to label "Bunty" as the greatest comedy of the decade. "Bunty" Pulls The Strings" is said to be full of excellent dialogue, spontaneous and natural, so like the sort of speech such people would be likely to use that it does not seem overdrawn even in its funniest moments. It has been said that Mr. Moffat, the author, and the Scotch players have done for the Scotch character and environment pretty much the same sort of thing that made James A. Herne's plays of New England life triumphs of realism and of art.

And of the company which is to present "Bunty" at the Murat it has been said that their playing is the very reflection of life itself, with not a stagey thing about it. Humanity walks upon the scenes with all its dignity and simplicity, all its depths and foolishness. Undoubtedly "Bunty" will receive the same warm reception in Indianapolis that the play has received everywhere else and the engagement will be one of long to be remembered by those who enjoy wholesomeness, verity and truth in stage entertainments.

IBOHung

There will be no advance in prices for this engagement. A popular Wednesday Matinee will be given. A special Thanksgiving Matinee will be presented on Thursday.

Season's Frocks Embrace Features Settled Years Ago

When the season is young there is always a plenty that is new in the fashions. Millinery blooms into richness and beauty, frocks have new lines that please or displease, blouses show a variety of detail that make them in the forefront of fashion's van, and, in fact, there is something new on all sides. Yet to the one who analyzes the new models carefully there is nothing that is entirely unfamiliar.

Frocks embrace certain features that we have regarded as quite settled a season ago, if not longer, and hats, although they are prettier than ever, are not absolutely original in shape. The trimmings in many instances are positively new, especially the decorations for tailored hats. It is wonderful how much of the milliners have crowded into the hats for general wear; it is also noticeable that such hats are so developed, frequently, that they may serve semi-formal purposes.

Take, for instance, the little velvet and mouse skin hats worn with tailored suits. When used for motoring they are trimmed with single feather fancies or fringed ribbon, boned and set upright to produce the effect of a feather decoration, and thus are made to serve a semi-dressy purpose, as well as the purpose of the strictly tailored frock.

Another novel decoration on some of the hats, covered with corded silk and faced with satin or velvet, is made of lace, wired and shaped like a very large wing and placed on one side of the hat. It is placed on the very edge of the brim and almost entirely covers the crown.

Very large hats of black satin or velvet are extremely fashionable for dressy occasions, and they are usually trimmed in flat effect. Large roses, draperies of net, overlays of plaited net, roses enmeshed in chiffon, etc., all are trimmings greatly to be desired.

Two or three rows of finely plaited white corded silk ribbon on a chic little black velvet hat make a trimming that is liked by the French milliners. With this there are combined, perhaps, two straight little bands of black velvet, stoutly supported and edged with fringed silk. The plaited ribbon is stitched on the under side of the brim, and the velvet "quills" arranged at one side, where they are held in place with a pretty buckle or cabochon.

The four-cornered, three-cornered, tri-cornered and similar hat effects which made their appearance among the first modes of all seemed destined to become the over-popular types. It is true that they are generally becoming, but they are appearing in exceedingly cheap materials and trimmings among the ready-made models, which disqualifies them for the uses of the smart women with a love for things away "from the ordinary."

Men Will Get Medicine if
The Women Are Around.

Ed. Howe, the famous Kansas funny man and story teller, has an article in the December American Magazine in which he says:

"When a woman has charge of a sick man, she feels as important as the marshal of the day at a country Fourth of July celebration, and however amiable she may be at other times, she is very 'bossy' when she has medicine to give a man, or lotions to put on him; if he wants a drink of water, she expresses the opinion that he is drinking too much, and remembers that her aunt Harriet's husband once drank a great deal when he was sick, and had convulsions. If the sick man becomes impatient, and says the medicine is doing no good, she reminds him curtly that 'time' is necessary; she has even been known to dip into the classics, and say that Rome was not built in a day. The air of wisdom with which she examines the doctor books convinces the sick man that, however intelligent his medical adviser may have been, after his recovery he will be informed that he would have been sick much longer had she not used her home-made lotions. Whatever she does at night, the doctors will agree in the morning that it was very good.

"The sleepiest woman in the world will stay up all night cheerfully if she can get a chance to doctor somebody, and if a man has medicine to take at an unusual hour he will get it, if there is a woman around."

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss.

The Doctrine of Good Shoes May Be Profitably Preached Only By a Good Shoe Man

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Somehow, we feel that it would be about as creditable to circulate bad money as to sell bad shoes. Perhaps the selling of poor shoes will stop, sometime. It ought to stop.

Need More Doctors of Public Health Says Former Hoosier

"We need more doctors of public health than more doctors of medicine," says Dr. F. B. Dresslar, formerly of Indiana, now connected with the federal bureau of education, in a bulletin "The Duty of the State in Medical Inspection of Schools," just issued by the bureau of education at Washington. Dr. Dresslar pleads earnestly for the kind of medical inspection that seeks to promote health rather than that which hunts for ill-health. "Our system of paying doctors to do something for us when we are sick ought to be largely discarded for the Chinese system of paying them to keep us from getting sick."

Dr. Dresslar justifies the state's intervention in the health of its citizens on broad grounds of public policy. He feels that the community has as much right to demand good health in its children as it has to demand that they attend school: as much right to preserve the community against contagion of disease and bodily neglect as against the contagion of ignorance.

In answer to the question whether medical inspection as now organized has proved useful, Dr. Dresslar shows that medical inspection has called attention in a startling way to the danger of school conditions in transmitting disease: it has already lessened actual illness, and consequently secured better school attendance; and best of all, medical inspection in the hands of carefully trained men with the right spirit has proved to be an educational agent of great value, by stimulating parents to give more attention to food, clothing, sleeping rooms and general home sanitation, and by disseminating better ideals of hygienic living.

It is in this increased knowledge by the people concerning the personal care of health that Dr. Dresslar finds the greatest ultimate good of medical inspection. He says many people are still in gross ignorance and superstition regarding health and disease, since many of them attribute to a divine Providence death from diseases directly due to filth. "Our chief duty lies in removing the causes which contribute to physical unsoundness and disease. As long as we herd our children in schools where they must breathe impure air, bend over insanitary school desks, work at books when they need physical exercise, just so long shall we be paying for our own errors."

Dr. Dresslar concludes that the country needs health officers whose chief delight is in finding and developing beautiful cases of physical perfection rather than in finding some obscure and rare disease; health officers whose philosophy is based on the gospel of physical vigor, on the sanctity of personal purity and the godliness of clean living; "doctors of health" in very truth, who will be concerned with exhibiting, not a long list of the physical defective and diseased, but a large list of healthy, well developed children.

THREATEN TO TIE UP HUGE STEEL PLANTS

Labor Troubles at Pittsburg Growing Serious.

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.—Demanding an advance of 70 cents a day, six hundred more trainmen employed in the yard and mills of the steel corporation plants have quit. Nearly 1,000 trainmen are out in the Homestead and Edgar Thomson plants, and at the Carrie furnaces.

The seriousness of the present strike was fully realized when officers of the steel company said the three big plants may be forced to shut down. This would put in idleness 20,000 men, the combined working forces of the plants. The men, gathering in groups in the streets of Homestead and Duquesne, assert they will force the company to accede to their demands or start the biggest strike since the Homestead strike and riots of 1892.

Since the Homestead strike of 1892 the mills of Monongahela and Turtle Creek valley have maintained the open shop, the Carnegies first and the Steel corporation officials later, repulsing all attempts at unionizing.

HOCKIN IN JAIL

Iron Workers' Secretary Not Trusted by Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Nov. 25.—Herbert S. Hockin, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers' international union and a defendant in the dynamite conspiracy case, was taken in custody at the direction of Judge Anderson in federal court and will be held in the Marion county jail until he is able to give $20,000 bond.

Judge Anderson said he believed Hockin could not be trusted and that, in the interest of his bondsmen, he believed the defendant ought to be turned over to the marshal. Hockin has been at liberty under a $10,000 bond, signed by his attorneys.

Two Killed in Auto Accident.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 25.—Howard James, director of purchases of the Great Northern railroad and a vice president, and Samuel H. Plechner, purchasing agent of the same road, were instantly killed when the auto in which they were driving turned turtle directly in front of James J. Hill's country home.

A Clear Majority of 149.

Washington, Nov. 25.—South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives, has completed the work of compiling the official list of members-elect of the new house. According to the list there are 292 Democrats and 143 Republicans, completing the total of 435. This gives the Democrats a clear majority of 149.

Senator Rayner Dying.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Senator Rayner of Maryland has had a decided turn for the worse and his physician says he probably will not hold out many hours longer. All the members of his family have been summoned to his bedside and are awaiting the end.

Skeletons Washed Into Sea.

Messina, Nov. 25.—A wave of abnormal size flooded the cemetery where the earthquake and cholera victims are buried and caused great havoc. Many tombstones were destroyed and hundreds of skeletons were washed into the sea.

Corn Shredder Claims Hand.

Scottsburg, Ind., Nov. 25.—Herman Bobo, aged twenty-three, is minus his right hand as a result of that member being caught in a corn shredder.

STATE TO TAKE ADVANCED STEP

Insane Patients to Be Turned to Profitable Account.

THE "COLONIZATION" METHOD

In Connection With the Eastern Hospital For the Insane at Richmond a Farm Will Be Dotted With Cottages In Which Will Be Placed Harmless Patients, Who Will Cultivate the Farm for the State's Profit.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 25.—Trustees of the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane have brought suit to condemn 150 acres of land in Center township, this county, which, if obtained, will be used for colonization purposes, as outlined by Dr. S. E. Smith, superintendent of the insane hospital, and approved by Governor Marshall. John L. Kempton and wife, the owners of the land, are made defendants.

The hospital trustees assert that they have offered a reasonable sum for the land, but the owners have refused to sell. A fund of $75,000 has been appropriated by the state to further the colonization plan, which is regarded as an advanced step in the treatment of the insane.

Under the plan proposed those not violently insane will be placed in cottages and allowed to cultivate the farms, the profits going to the state.

CAR DEMOLISHED

Five Persons Injured When Auto Ran Into Train.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 25.—When an automobile owned by Frank Navelle of Dunnington, Ind., collided with a Lake Erie & Western passenger train three miles from this city, Mrs. Navelle and a daughter were seriously injured and three other occupants of the car were bruised.

Mr. Navelle was coming to Lafayette with his wife, daughter Ruby, son Clarence and nephew, Lee Larch. The curtains on the machine were down and the five passengers had no view of the track. The passenger train was in a deep cut and was running at a speed of sixty miles an hour.

The automobile struck the side of the baggage car of the passenger train and was completely demolished. All of the occupants of the machine were thrown out and were scattered along the side of the railroad track.

GAS IN DAVIESS

Drillers Burned When Torches Ignite Unexpectedly Flow.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 25.—Excitement is intense in Reeve township, following the discovery of a strong flow of gas on the old Griffin farm. The flow was encountered at a depth of 375 feet in what is known as the Loogoootee sand. The well has been capped, awaiting instructions from the officials of the J. H. Duffy Oil and Gas company of Pittsburg, which opened the well. The discovery of the gas at the depth it was encountered was wholly unexpected and the drillers were not prepared to take care of the flow. The gas ignited from the torches about the derrick and the housing was destroyed by fire, together with the clothing of the drillers.

New Officers of Y. M. C. A.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 25.—At the closing business session of the Indiana Y. M. C. A. convention in this city Clarence Kessinger of Vincennes was elected president; vice president, Frank E. Smith, Elkhart; secretary, E. M. Haas, Richmond; treasurer, John F. Wallick, Indianapolis.

Thanksgiving as it is.

The actual conversation on this feast of heartfelt gratitude is something like this:

Mother—"How thankful we ought to be that we are all able to be here, and all well and—"

Jack—"Say, Ma, you ought to have been there and seen Tom put across that run from the 15 yard line. Gee, but wasn't —"

Father—"Yes, I think so too. And what a blessing it is that business has been good, and that while prices are so high we have enough to eat and a comfortable —"

Gladys—"Yes, and just think that Dick who put the ball through the line was 25 pounds less weight than the average of the Billville team." Etc., etc.

Not that this newspaper would suggest a long face on this day of jubilation. There is no use in asking Jack and Gladys to go to church if they are going to look as cross as a gargoyle about it.

Still human nature is such that happiness cannot be secured merely on a basis of turkey and cranberry sauce. "A spark disturbs our clod" as Mr. Browning said. The poor widow who has said the heartfelt word of blessing over a stringy fowl, and who has invited in a neighbor who may be still poorer and lonelier, has more of the sunshine of the day than the rich man whose table is loaded with the cream of the markets.

There won't be any money in the coal business until the miners can be persuaded to strike a little more frequently.

It is proposed that the cabinet

That the newspapers give prominence to the announcement that no college football players were killed during the season closing, evidently because it is so unusual.

Officers be given seats in Congress, but it is feared that if they were down there pushing things along, Congress might do some business.

The Carnegie foundation wants to pension ex-presidents. There is a growing feeling that when Uncle Sam turns his hired man out of the White house, he should give him something more than a suit of clothes and a railroad ticket home.

Congressmen are getting thousands of applications for jobs, but it is feared that our stubborn legislators will spend their time making laws instead of attending to these patriotic offers of service.

Special Demonstration

And Sale of Great Majestic Ranges

ONE WEEK ONLY November 25th to 30th ONE WEEK ONLY

SAVE $8.00

As a special inducement during our demonstration week only, with every MAJESTIC RANGE sold (prices always the same) we will give free one handsome set of ware as illustrated here.

Every piece of this ware is the best of its kind. Not a piece that is not needed in every kitchen. It cannot possibly be bought for less than $8.00. This ware is on exhibition at our store. DON'T FAIL TO SEE IT.

SPECIAL

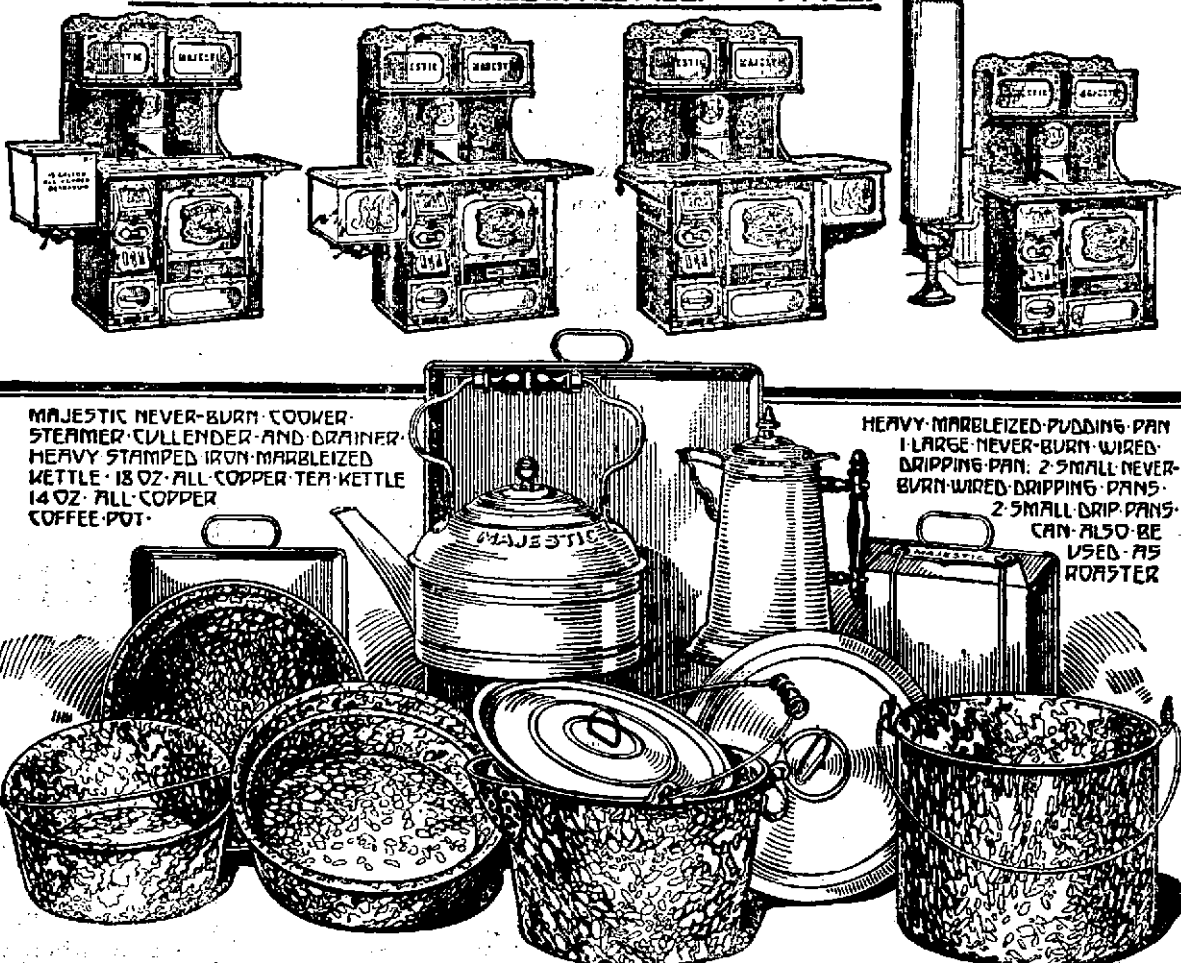

All during this week a special demonstrator direct from the MAJESTIC FACTORY will be glad to show you "ALL ABOUT RANGES" SHOW YOU why the MAJESTIC is the best range on earth at any price.

Come, If You Intend To Buy or Not

EDUCATION lies in KNOWING THINGS—KNOW why the oven of a range is heated—KNOW how the water is heated—HOW the top is heated—WHY the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel—KNOW how a range is made inside and outside. This education may serve you in the future. DON'T OVERLOOK a chance to KNOW THINGS shown by one who knows. COME.

Set of Ware FREE

MAJESTIC RANGES ARE MADE IN ALL SIZES AND STYLES

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high priced food with that old worn out cook stove?

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic and Malleable Charcoal Iron Range.

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a moveable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning,) heats 15 gal. water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300% stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

Don't Overlook the Date. This is a Special Invitation to You and Your Friends and Neighbors

C. H. & D. INTENDS TO PUT IN BLOCK

System Will be Installed From Glenwood to Indianapolis Within Next 40 Days.

PLANS TO HASTEN THE WORK

Application For Extension of Time is Withdrawn Just Before Start of Inquiry.

Withdrawing its application for an extension of time, the C. H. & D. Railway Company has informed the Railroad Commission of Indiana that it will hasten the installation of automatic block signals, the use of which, it is asserted, would have prevented the Irvington wreck, with its toll of fifteen dead, on its line from Glenwood to the Ohio state line, as ordered, and that it will comply with an order which the commission has indicated it will make for the blocking of its line from Glenwood to Indianapolis.

After his return from Washington, where he attended the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, Chairman W. J. Wood was visited by J. M. Scott, supervisor of transportation of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Company, which owns the C. H. & D. road. Mr. Scott came as a representative of Vice President A. W. Thompson to assure the commission that his company will install the block signals, as ordered, by Jan. 1, and that it will comply with an order, to be issued in December, for block signals to be installed next year.

The announcement of the company that it will no longer press its request for an extension of time and that the blocks will be installed within the next forty days was made two days before the time set for the railroad commission to make an investigation of the Irvington wreck and determine the remedy for preventing a repetition of such a disaster.

The Railroad Commission of Indiana was to begin its investigation of the wreck today. The hearing will be conducted behind closed doors, as provided by law. W. J. Wood, chairman of the commission, has returned from Washington, where he has been attending the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners.

The estates of two of the victims of the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington were opened in Probate Court yesterday. The will of William H. Sharkey, the engineer who was killed, disposes of an estate valued at $14,000. Mrs. Mabel F. Wiggins, widow of Irvin M. Wiggins, another victim, was appointed administratrix of his estate. Wiggins was the conductor of the passenger train. The Sharkey property is willed to brothers and sisters of the testator. The larger part of the estate, including the real estate in Indianapolis, goes to Michael Sharkey, a brother. He was appointed executor.

DECLARES SHE WAS LED ASTRAY

Bertha Lawson, Age 19, of Knights-town, Tells Dreadful Story in Newcastle Court.

TO BE SIFTED THOROUGHLY

Two Men Implicated Are Called to Testify as Their Part of Case.

A tale of an unusual vicious nature that shocked the sensibilities of the most hardened of the police court spectators was told before Mayor Barnard Saturday by Bertha Lawson, a nineteen-year-old Kentucky mountain girl, in the trial of Mrs. Maggie Pressley Faleon, the Greenfield woman, who was arrested with the Lawson girl Friday in connection with the alleged finding of two white women Wednesday night with Aaron and Ben Bailey, colored, says the Newcastle Courier.

The girl, ignorant of the law and the customs of decency, testified in the case against the Faleon woman, who was charged with and pleaded not guilty to giving liquor to a minor. The state held that the defendant gave the Lawson girl a bottle of beer.

In her testimony the Lawson girl said that she came to Knightstown about two weeks ago from Kentucky. She met the Faleon woman last Sunday at the home of John Elliott in Knightstown, where she was employed, and accompanied the visitor back to Greenfield Wednesday Mrs. Faleon proposed that they come to Newcastle and the girl consented.

On their arrival here on a T. H. I. & E. car the witness testified that they went south on a street from the traction station and met the two colored men. They walked to the buggy of the Baileys and there the Faleon woman gave her a bottle of beer and drank one herself. She did not know where the beer came from.

Testifying in her own behalf, Mrs. Faleon said that Aaron Bailey gave the bottle of beer to the Lawson girl. She said that Aaron and his brother were there and that Aaron had three bottles. She denied riding with one of the Baileys or having been here with him last week.

After hearing the evidence of the two women Mayor Barnard concluded that he wanted the testimony of the Bailey brothers and ordered them summoned as witnesses. He then continued the case until Monday.

Mrs. Faleon pleaded not guilty to additional charges of intoxication and prostitution. Those cases were continued until next Wednesday when witnesses will be here for the state from Greenfield.

The Lawson girl pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge. She was fined $1 and costs and went to jail in default of the payment of the fine. She was also arraigned on a charge of prostitution and pleaded not guilty.

LITTLE STIRRING IN COURT TODAY

JUDGMENT ON A VERDICT

Judge Blair did not arrive in Rushville until about eleven o'clock and not much business was transacted in court this morning. The plaintiff in the case of James O. Nelson against Lafayette Johnson on an account moved for a judgment on the verdict of $25.50, which was returned by a jury last term of court, was sustained by the court.

The suit of Maude L. Wolcott against Harriett Plough and Will M. Bliss for $500 damages, which was set for trial today, was dismissed and the costs were paid.

The two cases against the commissioners, which are the outgrowth of the contract for a highway in Richland township being let to Wilk & Co. when they were not the highest bidders will come up tomorrow. It is thought about two days will be required in hearing the suits. One of them will probably be dismissed in view of the fact they have the same intent.

All the elevators in the city will close Thanksgiving Day.

Harry Lakin's telephone number has been changed from 3219 to 1061.

The order of Owls will have election of officers Wednesday night. A good attendance is desired.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

THE ROOT OF EVIL
BY THOMAS DIXON

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

"In other words," Bivens interrupted coldly. "You inform me that you have always known that I stole from your prescription counter the formula which gave me my first fortune."

The financier began to speak with slow venomous energy:

"I've let you ramble on in your maudlin talk, Woodman, because it amused me. For years I've waited your coming. Your unexpected advent is the sweetest triumph of this festival night."

He paused and a sinister smile played about his mouth. "The last time I saw you I promised myself that I'd make you come to me the next time and when you did that you'd come on your hands and knees. And I swore that when you looked up into my face groveling and whining for mercy as you have tonight, I'd call my servants and order them to kick you down my doorstep."

He leaned across the massive flat top desk to touch an electric button. The doctor's fist suddenly gripped the outstretched hand and his eyes glared into the face of the financier with the dangerous look of a madman. "You had better not ring that bell, yet," he said, with forced quiet in his tones.

"Your trade gives me an idea," said Bivens. "I want you to stay until the festivities end, and enjoy yourself. Take a look over my house. It cost two millions to build it, and requires half a million a year to keep it up. The butterflies those dancers are crushing beneath their feet in my ballroom I imported from Central America at a cost of $5,000. The favors in jewelry I shall give to my rich guests who have no use for them will be worth $25,000. Remember that I spent three hundred and fifty thousand on this banquet, which lasted eight hours, and that I will see you and your daughter dead and in the bottomless pit before I will give you one penny. Enjoy yourself. It's a fine evening."

Before the doctor could answer, the financier laughed and left the room. For a long time the dazed man stood motionless. He passed his big hand over his forehead in a vague instinctive physical effort to lift the fog of horror and despair that was slowly strangling him.

He felt that he was suffocating. He tore his collar apart to give himself room to breathe. He thrust his hand into the hip pocket of his dress suit where he usually carried a handkerchief and felt something hard and cold.

It was a revolver he had been accustomed to carry of late in his rounds through the dangerous quarters of the city. Without thinking when he dressed, he had transferred it to his evening suit. His hand closed over the ivory handle with a sudden fierce joy.

"Yes, I'll kill him in his magnificent ballroom, to the strains of his own music," he said, half aloud. "I'll give a fit climax to his dance of death and the worm."

He quickly descended the stairs and saw Bivens talking with his wife. He

And Many Are The Voices of Rushville People.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Rushville people are in this chorus. Here's a Rushville case.

S. Bebout, 404 W. First St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are just as represented and I am glad to recommend them. I had pains though my back and kidneys and the action of my kidneys was irregular. When I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills I did so and they soon brought relief."

didn't wish to kill him in her presence, and as he passed a look of hatred flashed from the little black eyes of the millionaire. He made up his mind to kill him at the moment the dance was at the highest pitch of gaiety.

The music began, and the dancers once more whirled into the center of the room and the crowd filled the space under the grand arch which led into the hall. Bivens was the center of an admiring group of sycophants and worshipful snobs. The doctor's heart gave a mad throb of joy. His hour had come.

With quick strides he covered the space which separated them and without a moment's hesitation thrust his hand into his breast for his revolver. Not a muscle or nerve quivered. His finger touched the trigger softly and he gave Bivens a look which he meant he should take with him into eternity, when just beyond him he saw Harriet. She stood motionless with a look of mute agony on her fair young face, watching Stuart talk to Bivens' wife.

His finger slipped from the trigger and his hand loosed its deadly grip. "Have I forgotten my baby?" he cried in sudden anguish. And then another vision flashed through his excited brain. A courtroom, a prisoner, his own bowed figure the center of a thousand eyes while the jury brought in their verdict.

His breath came in labored gasps as one mad thought succeeded another.

"No!" he said hoarsely. "I must save her. I must be cunning. I must succeed—not fail. I must get what I came here for. I must save my baby. My own fate is of no importance. She is everything."

Bivens had taken from him by fraud his formula, destroyed his business and robbed him of all he possessed. The law gave him power to hold it. He, too, would appeal to the same power and take what belonged to him. No matter how, he would take it, and he would take it tonight.

Bivens had boasted that his favors in jewelry would be worth $25,000. The doctor turned quickly and began to search the house until he found the half drunken servant arranging these packages under the direction of a secretary. These favors had been made for the occasion by a famous jeweler—a diamond pin of peculiar design, a gold death's head with diamond teeth and eyes surmounted by a butterfly and a caterpillar. The stones in each piece were worth $100. They lay on a table in little open jewel boxes, fifty in a box, and each box contained $5,000 worth of gold and precious stones.

The doctor inspected the boxes with exclamations of wonder and admiration. He bent low over the table for an instant, and when he left one of the jewel cases rested securely in his pocket.

He was amazed at his own skill and a thrill of fierce triumph filled his being as he realized that he had succeeded and that his little girl would go to Europe and complete her work. He spoke pleasantly to the secretary and congratulating him on his good fortune in securing such a master, turned and strolled leisurely back to the ballroom.

Not for a moment did he doubt the safety of his act. He was a chemist and knew the secret of the laboratory. He would melt the gold into a single

You know that most of the ailments named above come from an out of order stomach; of course you do. If your food doesn't digest, but lays heavily on your stomach, it has started to ferment.

When it ferments it sets loose in the stomach poisonous gases which irritate the great nerve that leads directly to the brain from the stomach.

That irritation causes heartburn, dizziness, night sweats, nervousness.

bar and sell the diamonds as he needed them. His only regret was that he could not have taken the full amount he had demanded of the little scoundrel. He found Harriet and they started at once for home.

"Did you have a good time?" "Yes, when I could forget the pain in my heart. You succeeded? It's all right? I'm going abroad at once to study?"

The doctor laughed aloud in a burst of fierce joy.

"Certainly, my dear!"

The tears sprang into the gentle eyes as she answered gratefully.

"You can't know how happy you've made me."

Bivens, who had heard the doctor's laughter, passed and said with exaggerated courtesy:

"I trust you have enjoyed the evening, Woodman?"

The doctor laughed again in his face. "More than I can possibly tell you."

Bivens followed to the door and watched him slowly walk down the steps.

DRUGGIST RECOMMENDS

Vinol For Run-Down People.

If any one person should know the value of medicines it is the druggist who dispenses them and from our experience we want to say if people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to supply the demand.

This is because Vinol is a combination of the two most world famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative element of cod's livers without the oil, the iron for the blood.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, promotes healthful sleep and a normal appetite.

Old people, delicate children, run-down, overworked and tired women should try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSE WAR PREPARATIONS

International Congress Discusses the Situation.

Basle, Nov. 25.—Representing twenty countries, four hundred and fifty delegates met here at the opening session of the International Socialistic congress. Some of the most prominent Socialists in Europe are present and will participate in the congress, which will last three days. These include Dr. Bebel of Germany, Jules Jaures of France, Herr Vandervelde of Belgium, Herr Adler of Austria, and Keir Hardie of Great Britain.

The principal object of the congress is to protest against war and the attitude of the great powers. There were forcible speeches on this subject, especially by Jules Jaures and Keir Hardie. The congress will discuss among other things the question of a general strike in the event of a European war. Herr Bebel has been seriously ill and confined to his bed ever since his arrival.

The Parisian View.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Despite the efforts to take an optimistic view of the situation, it is certain that the tension of Europe is very grave. Austria is the darkest factor. The mobilization of the Austrian army is general, although the Viennese newspapers do not print this, as they are under strict censorship in military matters. Italy, for reasons of her own, is anxious to prevent a conflict between her ally, Austria, and Serbia, whereas Germany, the third member of the triple alliance, would be glad to see a rupture between the countries.

Servians Occupy Ochrida.

Belgrade, Nov. 25.—The Servians have occupied Ochrida without opposition. King Peter returned here Sunday after an absence of five weeks at the front. He was saluted by the artillery and welcomed by the ministers and officials and the Russian envoy and by enthusiastic acclamations of citizens along the streets. The city was decorated and illuminated in his honor.

OUR RIGHT TO FORTIFY CANAL

Stimson Shows That Panama
Defenses Are a Necessity.

NO VIOLATION OF TREATY.

American and British Statesmen Who Negotiated It Recognized Our Intentions, Says Secretary of War in a Magazine Article.

In an article in the Scientific American Secretary of War Stimson takes strong ground not only on the absolute right of the United States to fortify the Panama canal, but on the need for such defenses as a matter of great national expediency.

Secretary Stimson denies that the fortification of the canal would be a violation of this country's obligation to Great Britain under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. He thus summarizes the legal situation:

"In the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850 the United States and Great Britain expressly agreed not to fortify or assume any dominion over any part of Central America where the canal might be made. The first draft of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty of Feb. 5, 1900, contained a similar prohibition to the effect that 'no fortification shall be erected commanding the canal or the waters adjacent.' This proposed treaty in this form was rejected by the senate for the very reason that it did not give the United States sufficient liberty of action in regard to the canal. The present Hay-Pauncefote treaty was then negotiated, which in its first article entirely abrogated the old Clayton-Bulwer treaty and also omitted the restrictions against fortification which had been contained in the first proposed Hay-Pauncefote treaty."

"The memorandum which Mr. Hay sent to the senate with the second Hay-Pauncefote treaty, containing the correspondence between himself and Lord Lansdowne and Lansdowne, shows that these changes were made for the express purpose of permitting the United States to fortify and defend the canal and that Lord Lansdowne fully understood and recognized this right on our part."

Lansdowne's Statement.

"As to this Lord Lansdowne expressly said:

"It is most important that no doubt should exist as to the intention of the contracting parties. As to this, I understand that by the omission of all reference to the matter of defense the United States government desires to reserve the power of taking measures to protect the canal at any time when the United States may be at war from destruction or damage at the hands of an enemy or enemies."

"The congress of the United States then proceeded the following year in the Spooner act (section 5) to authorize the president to enter into the contracts for the construction of the canal and its 'defenses.' And in the following year, 1903, Mr. Hay, the same statesman who had negotiated the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, negotiated a treaty with the republic of Panama by which Panama granted to the United States for the purpose of the canal the use, occupation and control of the present Panama canal zone and also granted to the United States for the protection of such canal the right to use its land and naval forces and to establish fortifications. (Bunau Varilla treaty, article 21.)

"The Hay-Pauncefote treaty and the Bunau Varilla treaties are the only existing treaties entered into by the United States which affect its rights over the Panama canal. It is perfectly clear, therefore, from the foregoing facts that none of the statesmen, either of Great Britain or Panama or the United States, who were concerned at the time in the negotiation of these treaties or the enactment of legislation to make them effective had any doubt as to the right or purpose of the United States to defend and fortify the canal."

Necessity For Fortification.

As to the necessity for the fortification of the canal for the protection of the United States in time of war Secretary Stimson is fully convinced. He says:

"It has been earnestly argued that the safety of the canal can be better and more cheaply assured by an agreement between the leading nations, making it a neutral waterway and forbidding it from ever being blockaded or seized in time of war. It is argued that such a course will relieve us from the expense and burden of defending the canal and that it will at the same time accomplish every result which we could accomplish by defending it ourselves."

"This is an entire misconception. It loses sight of the vital difference between an American canal and an international canal. It loses sight of the fact that it is of vital importance to this country not only that the canal shall be open to our fleet in case of war, but that it shall be closed to the fleet of our enemy. An international canal, kept open and defended by agreement between the powers, from its very nature would have to be open to our opponent as well as to ourselves."

Secretary Stimson finally gives an outline of the character of fortifications he deems necessary for the proper defense of the canal.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR ENGINEERS

Eastern Roads Lose Out in Arbitration.

FIFTY-TWO ROADS AFFECTED

Award of Board of Arbitration Appointed to Adjust Long-Standing Wage Dispute, Brings the Eastern Roads Face to Face With Probable Demands For Increased Wages by the Firemen and Other Employees.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Their fight for an increase in wages has been won by thirty-five thousand locomotive engineers of eastern roads. The board of arbitration between the railroads and the engineers in its award just made public does not grant all of the engineers' demands, but establishes a minimum wage, which amounts to a substantial increase on most of the roads. The award by the board of arbitration probably brings the fifty-two railroads of the east face to face with demands for increased wages by the firemen and other employees.

Notwithstanding the increase in compensation, P. H. Morrissey, the representative of the engineers on the board, dissents from the award and says the settlement accepted by it can be only temporary. The award is retroactive, counting for only one year from May 1, 1912. This means that within five months the railroads of the east probably will be confronted by further demands from the engineers and again may have to meet the possibility of a strike.

May Raise Freight Rates.

The railroads estimated that the demands on the part of the engineers, if granted, would entail an additional expenditure of $7,172,000 a year. If the same percentage of increase were granted to other employees the additional expense would amount in all to $67,000,000. The board of arbitration expresses the opinion that this total is too high, but it does not attempt to give exact figures as to the additional burden that the award may impose upon the railroads of the east. The findings of the arbitration board are regarded here as practically insuring a renewed attempt on the part of the railroads to raise freight rates.

The more important features of the award are: A minimum wage of $4.25 per 100 miles or less for engineers in passenger service, with an overtime rate of 50 cents per hour with an average speed of twenty miles per hour; a minimum of $4.75 for engineers in through freight service per day of 100 miles or less, with overtime pro rata after ten hours; 25 cents additional per day in local freight service, and $4.10 per day of ten hours or less in switching service. All existing rates higher than these minimum are continued in force.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED

That is What Suffragists Say About Their Convention Row.

Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—The cause of suffrage apparently has triumphed over its internal differences, and today the conquerors and the conquered in the battle of Saturday, when Jane Addams of Chicago, now dubbed "the Moses of suffrage," swept aside all the opposition, defeating Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and her followers, are standing back to back fighting for a country-wide vote for women.

When the aftermath of the battle stopped it looked very much as if the supporters of Mrs. Belmont might withdraw from the National American Woman Suffrage association in their chagrin at being defeated, when they sought to amend the constitution of the organization so that the officers of the association could not ally themselves with any political party.

So serious was the breach that Sunday there was an executive meeting of the executive board of the association for the purpose of discussing the matter. Nothing was given out beyond the statement of the president of the association, Dr. Anna B. Shaw, who said that the matter had been discussed and everybody satisfied, but it is believed that there was a tacit agreement made among the officers that they would not affiliate themselves with any party unless such an affiliation was absolutely necessary. This promise, it is believed, was the diplomatic sop which was passed to the members who stood by Mrs. Belmont, and were on the losing side of the proposition.

SIoux RESERVATION SWEEP BY FLAMES

A Thousand Square Miles Devastated.

Pine Ridge Indian Agency, S. D., Nov. 25.—Mostly within the Sioux Indian reservation, a thousand square miles of territory has been swept by a prairie fire of huge proportions. The town of White Owl is reported entirely wiped out. A dozen other towns were threatened. An unknown number of homesteaders' shacks were burned and every soul in a strip ten miles wide and more than 100 miles long is exhausted from having fought fire for almost forty-eight hours without rest. Rumors are that several homesteaders were caught and burned to death.

Practically all telephone wires are down and the full extent of the damage is not yet known. Three different fires started and, fanned by a brisk wind, the flames were soon leaping across the prairie.

At Cut Meat, a station on the Indian reservation, a crowd of Indians fought the fire two days and nights. During the fight the life of a fourteen-year-old Indian boy was saved in a dramatic manner by J. B. Brown, an auto dealer of Valentine, Neb. The boy became surrounded by flames and was on the verge of being burned to death, when Brown secured the assistance of a volunteer. Both wrapped themselves in wet blankets and drove the auto through the wall of fire to the lad. As it sped by the boy the volunteer grabbed him and jerked him into the auto, which kept on through the second wall of fire to safety. All three were singed and the machine was blistered.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 25.—Claiming that he is a graduate of Yale, a member of an influential family, and that five different times he has been president of big local concerns, Henry Ames Van Auten of New York city was arrested at a leading Atlanta club to answer the charge of passing worthless checks at various places.

Van Auten takes his arrest coolly. "I have gone such a pace I have burnt up my tires," he said, "but I'm sport enough to face the music, and it may be well to add that when you dance there is the fiddler to be paid."

D. D. TYNER NEW TEACHERS' HEAD

Local High School Principal is Elected President of Association at Closing Session.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Praise Prof. A. M. Taylor Who Retires to Become Clerk of Circuit Court.

At the closing session of the Rush County Teachers Association in the Graham high school building Saturday afternoon, new officers were elected and resolutions, prepared by a committee appointed by the presiding officer, were adopted.

The resolutions lamented the loss of A. M. Taylor, retiring superintendent of the Milroy schools who was elected clerk of the Rush circuit court. The document praised him highly for his services as a school teacher, and stated that he was a loss to the profession in Rush county.

The resolutions also referred in complimentary terms to officers who prepared the delightful program for this year's meeting.

The highest praises possible were sounded for Prof. W. M. Wirt superintendent of the Gary schools who lectured to the teachers twice during the meeting Saturday.

The teachers generally were highly pleased with the lectures by Prof. Wirt. Many of them declared that it gave them a new insight into profession of the teacher and helped them greatly. Many stated that they received some good sound advice which they will most likely find useful in solving problems which may arise in the school room in the future.

Saturday afternoon Prof. Wirt talked on the subject, "The Care of The Child." It was more of a philosophical treatise which dealt with the relations between pupil and teacher and the methods which teachers should use to best govern the child. In the morning his talk was more in detail with the concrete example of the Gary school system.

John Geraghty, retiring president of the association and principal of the Moscow schools, is responsible for Prof. Wirt coming to Rushville. He heard the Gary superintendent at the meeting of the National Teachers Association and prevailed on him to come here for the annual meeting.

O. D. Tyner, principal of the Rushville high school, was elected president of the Association to succeed John Geraghty. Solon E. Tevis of Orange township was elected vice-president to succeed Clara Herbst. Miss Cecil Ekins of Washington township was named secretary. Miss Belle Gregg of this city is the retiring secretary. Charles W. Myers Richland township was elected treasurer to succeed Solon E. Tevis.

The nominating committee which selected the officers, consisted of one representative from each school corporation. The meeting concurred in the report of the nominating committee and the election was unanimous. A new executive committee was appointed.

INFANT PASSED AWAY.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Johnson, living northwest of this city, died this morning about 4 o'clock. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

GRAIN ELEVATOR SOLD.

The Kennedy and Gordon grain elevator at Rays Crossing has been sold to the P. A. Mull company and the new owners will take possession the first of December. The Mull company already owns elevators at Morristown, Gwynneville and Manilla.

MANILLA VICTORS.

The Manilla high school team defeated the Moscow school team at the latter place Friday night by the score of 11 to 6. While they were giving Moscow a drubbing, the Manilla Independents were giving the Waldron Independents a drubbing at the latter place. The score was 23 to 13.

BIG GAME THANKSGIVING

Local Football Team Will Take on Maxwells.

The one big football game of the season, as far as Rushville is concerned, will be played here Thursday when the Maxwells of Newcastle will be taken on. The Rushville team has a clean slate so far, and a win over the Maxwells would look pretty good. The auto-makers have a strong team and the locals will be forced to extend themselves in order to win. A record crowd will see the game from present indications. The Newcastle team will come here on a special train and will be accompanied by a large crowd of rooters.

ed on the ground that no legislature would enact a law compelling Commissioners to appropriate public money for private purposes, and should it do so foolish a thing, the law would be void. The motion was, therefore, not adopted.

Without farther discussion of the matter as to experimental methods, why not try business methods? While it may be entertaining to have speed, do not put over half the gate receipts into that department alone, at least until it is an established fact that the speed draws over half the people.

Instead of doing away with the department of women, as advocated, extend it to the limit. Instead of trying to make our fair from surrounding counties, work up and rely upon our own. Instead of continually going into debt, during the best series of fair years, estimate the probable income and keep within it. Above and over all other considerations, eliminate all gambling devices, pool selling, dance houses, shows for men only, and every species of immorality tending to corrupt men and especially the youth. A fair that tolerates such things should contribute the large proportion of the cost of revival meetings.

There is no reasonable reason why the Rush County Fair Association can not pay its debts, though it has reached the enormous sum of $2,500, and enter upon a series of successful years without passing the hat or trying to legislate money out of the county treasury into our treasury.
